By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

Safely at home and snugly we abide,
And hear, at ease, the mighty
tempest roar;
War, revolution, all the ills beside We know, nor never stir beyond the door.

The morticians will put in a pleasant day visiting George Washington's tomb.

"There was once an Anthropoid Ape,

Far smarter than the rest,
And everything that he could do
He always did the best."

According to Charlotte Perkins
Stetson this smart little monkey boldly announced, "I'm going to be a man," and it looks as though he knew, and did his best, for a whole skull, complete, of Mr. Pithecanthropus Erectus is discovered in Java, and the fundamentalists and evolutionists have another "missing link" to wrangle over.

Detective Sergt. Murphy
In a foolish prank,
Called the Major sassy names—
Gets reduced in rank.
Every bandit now in town,
Since he spoofed the boss,
Hopes that Sergt. Murphy will Be shoved off the force.

Perhaps for two weeks the 43 entombment miners trapped 727 feet below the surface of the earth in a Michigan mine will have to go without food while their rescuers carefully and slowly dig toward them,
so the bread-and-water victims of the Nebraska brand of justice may console themselves with the reflection that their predicament is not so bad, after all.

The miseries that others feel Philosophies to us reveal.

Mr. David I. Walsh finally comes out web-footed with a curious psychological blindness to the fact that prohibition was put into the Constitution and is being sustained by people who drink themselves but who don't think it's good for other people to drink. The statesman who hasn't time to wait for the inevitable reaction, but tries to force
this issue prematurely, may as well
dig his political grave now—he will need it in November.

The appellate court presents a new portrait of Harry F. Sinclair—done in oil!

Policeman Busch dies the death of a soldier on the battlefield fighting for his country, and three bandits
find themselves charged with murder.
The ladies and gentlemen of our splendid "force" can only close ranks, renew their vigilance, and await the day of retribution.

As presented in Newark "Red Blinds" is termed such a "vile and obscene" play that it is clear Mr.
Shubert should have taken it at once to Broadway.

In the renunciation of 6,000 pounds a year under the will of the late Duke of Orleans Mrs. Violette Jarrott treats Amelie of Portugal like a queen.

With 44,022 convictions in the Federal courts for liquor law violations during the last fiscal year Mr.
Wayne B. Wheeler doubtless will be able to twist out a brilliant analysis of the success of the Volstead act
in putting down drinking.

Miami is thrown into panic as the weather bureau craves information about another hurricane rampaging off the coast of Porto Rico, while Vera Cruz is hard hit. Nature is brewing some bad medicine in her meteorological laboratory.

With the New York dries out for the political scalp of one of the most fearless and intellectually honest Senators that State has sent to Washington, and Al Smith making it clear that Tammany has its toma-hawk out for him too, it is indeed fortunate for the Hon. Jimmy Wadsworth that he is getting a little bald.

Kaiser Bill, who before the war
was worth $100,000,000, sells out lock, stock and barrel for $250,000-000 in gold, which is not bad salvage from a bankrupt firm.

"Some for the Glories of This World; and some Sigh for the Prophet's Paradise to come;

Ah, take the Cash, and let the Credit
go,
Nor heed the rumble of a distant drum."

Mr. Pomerene's senatorial campaign receives a boost that Senator Willis didn't know he was going to get.

Louis Brownlow wisely feels that the District can best be governed under one man and but for the modesty which has always been his chief charm doubtless could give the name of the man.

VICTIM OF BANDITS DEAD; THREE FACE CHARGE OF MURDER

Mrs. Leo W. K. Busch
Watches Death Bed
of Policeman.

POST INITIATES FUND
FOR HER WITH $250

Marino Says "This Means
.Chair for Me." When Told of Death.

The thin thread of life to which Policeman Leo W. K. Busch, 28 years old, valiantly clung for two days snapped at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Garfield hospital. The courageous patrolman died as a result of the wounds he suffered in the gun battle with four bandits Sunday at Grant circle northwest.

The Washington Post has started a fund for the young widow of Policeman Busch with a subscription of $250. An announcement to this effect was broadcast over radio station WRC last night. Contributions may be either in cash or checks and should be addressed to the Cashier, Washington Post.

The Petworth Citizens association, in whose territory Policeman
Busch received his fatal wounds, notified The Post last night that it would contribute toward the fund.
Charles Ristron Schroth, secretary and treasurer of the association,
made the initial contribution—one
of $50.

Three Charged With Murder.

Formal charges of murder, were placed last night against three arrested as members of the bandit gang. The three are Samuel Marino, 19 years old, 617 C street
southwest, who was wounded by Busch; Nicholas Lee Eagles, 34 years old, half-breed Indian, 319 C street northwest, and John F. McCabe, 31 years old, 1208 K street northwest.

A fourth member of the band,
John Proctor, 18 years old, 1102
Seventh street southwest, lies in Franklin Square hospital, Baltimore, wounded. Physicians said yesterday that unless something unforeseen happens, Proctor will recover. Busch had told police that he was the one who shot Proctor.

Marino bowed his head when detectives told him of Busch's death.

Faga to Be Dismissed From Marine Corps

Lieut. William H. Faga, marine corps, world war hero and central
for ten weeks, at the Washington navy yard will be dismissed from the service, it was announced at the Navy Department yesterday.

Faga holds the French medaille militaire, croix de guerre with palms and silver star, army D. S. C., and navy cross.

His brilliant war record saved
him from twelve months imprisonment at hard labor which was also included in the sentence of the court which tried him on six charges including theft and embezzlement. His home is in Adair, La.

Hurricane Hits Vera Cruz; Miami in Fear for a Time

Forecaster's Warning Causes Scores to Quit Florida
City—Steamer Is Partially Wrecked in Mexican Port, Other Ships Sunk by Gale.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).— Vera Cruz has been swept by a hurricane, the most devastating since 1888.

Several ships were sunk in the bay and the Ward liner San Juan was partially wrecked.

(There is no "Ward line" steamer
San Juan. Available records indicate that the steamer referred to in the Vera Cruz dispatch may be the Red D line's freighter San Juan.)

With the great gale came heavy seas, which flooded the piers and drove out those living in that neighborhood. The hurricane blew for several hours, but about midday the wind began to fall and the storm swept overland.

Streets of Vera Cruz are littered with fallen trees, but thus far no
many casualties are reported. There is no word as yet of damage in the interior.

Post Starts Fund to Aid Policeman Hero's Widow

The Washington Post has started a relief fund for the widow of Policeman Leo W. K.
Busch, who died yesterday of wounds received in a battle with bandits. Mrs. Busch soon is to become a mother.

The Post subscribes $250 and solicits subscriptions from individuals and organizations. They either may be in cash or checks
and should be addressed to the cashier, The Washington Post.

Commissioner Proctor L.
Dougherty, in an address last night before the Kalamazoo Citizens association, paid high tribute to Busch. The young officer, he said, died in the public service. The flag at the Tenth precinct, to which Busch was attached, will be half-staffed today.

MRS. M. CROMELIN KILLED WHEN AUTO STRIKES HER

Mother of Former Assistant District Attorney Run Down
in Sixteenth Street.

ANOTHER SERIOUSLY HURT

Mrs. Mattie Cromelin, 65 years old, 1453 Spring place northwest, mother of Paul B. Cromelin, former assistant district attorney here,
was mortally injured last night
when she was struck by an automobile driven by Kenneth Pearce, 806 Kennedy street northwest, at Sixteenth street and Spring place.

Pearce placed Mrs. Cromelin in his automobile and drove to Garfield hospital, where she died two hours later from a fractured skull.
She did not regain consciousness
after the accident. Her identity was not established until midnight
last night.

Mrs. Cromelin had a theater engagement with her son, last night.
Anxiety not to keep her son waiting is believed to have caused Mrs.
Cromelin's death. When she reached Sixteenth street, according to police, a bus was stopping on the opposite side of the street. Mrs.
Cromelin, not wanting to miss the bus, started to run across the street.

automobile struck her, throwing her to the ground.

Pearce was released following the accident, to appear at an inquest at the morgue tomorrow. Mrs. Cromelin's identity was established by the initials on her wedding ring. Her son, when his mother did not appear at the theater, visited police headquarters and asked if any one

Liquor Seized; French Liner Captain Fined

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—
Capt. Marius Aubert, of the French liner De Grasse, was fined $438 today after customs officials had seized cognac and benedictine, which they allege was being smuggled from the liner.

Five men near a motorboat, in which the officials suspected the liquor was to be loaded, were arrested. After they denied knowledge of the liquor, the fine, representing $6 on each bottle of liquor, was imposed against Capt.
Aubert.

PROSPERITY SLOGAN FOR G. O. P. BATTLE, PHIPPS ANNOUNCES

Welfare Issue Restored
After Conference at White House.

SUPPORT OF COOLIDGE DROPPED AS FEATURE

Chairman's Statement Cites Present Wave of Industry; Watch Butler Outcome.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.
Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, of Colorado, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee, was a guest of President Coolidge Monday night, and "prosperity" was restored to its place as the "paramount issue" of the Republican campaign.

Statements by the official spokesman for the President and Senator Phipps issued yesterday made it clear that any difference of opinion, on the subject, which caused considerable confusion among party managers in the last few days, no longer existed.

At the White House it was revealed that reports made to the chief executive since his return to Washington by government departments generally were encouraging
as to the state of business in the nation. Specific mention was made of the increasing revenues in the Postoffice Department, the lack of unemployment reported by Secretary Davis, of the Department of Labor, and the flourishing state of foreign trade as found by the Department of Commerce.

Sensor Phipps on the eve of a tour, begun last night, which will take him first into Kentucky and Ohio for conferences with Republican leaders, and later in the campaign to other States, where there are hard fights, issued a statement
in which he said that "the paramount issue in this country is and always will be its prosperity," and in the course of which there was no reference of the previous senatorial declaration, that the issue was solely whether the voters wished to "sustain" President Coolidge.

Coolidge Idea Sustained.
The day's events were taken as a clear indication that the White House point of view will be carried out during the rest of the campaign, and that "prosperity," which was emphasized by most of the leaders who called upon the President for guidance during his stay in the Adirondacks, will be the talking point of Republican orators and campaign workers rather than the personality of the President, tactical move which will relieve the chief executive, his friends say, of any reaction that adversity for the Republican party in the coming elections might otherwise bring.

There is, according to Senator Phipps, no recession in Republican sentiment. In his statement issued yesterday and in private conversation he said that the prospects were favorable for Republican victory
even in the border States, and that

36 PERSONS INJURED IN ELEVATED CRASH

Subway Trains Collide on
Long Island.

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—
Thirty-six persons were injured,
two seriously, when one subway train crashed into the rear of another standing at the Bliss Avenue station on the elevated extension of the subway in Long Island City tonight.

Joseph Connaughton, 23, of Flushing, was pinned in the wreckage for an hour and a half while workmen cut through wood and steel to extricate him. His ankle was crushed. William Diston, mortorman of one of the trains, was also seriously hurt. Slippery rails, due to rain, were blamed for the accident.

least one supporter to offset the gloomy predictions of Dean Inge.
He is Sir T. Vyayrahakacharya,
a prominent Indian and is confident that country will pull with the empire in any future troubles.

WADSWORTH WINS RENOMINATION; DRY BAND TO FIGHT HIM

Cristman Group Beaten
in Convention; Likely to Bolt Party.

TAMMANY HOPEFUL
OF SENATE VICTORY

O. L. Mills Chosen to Oppose
Gov. Smith; No Opposition
on the Floor.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
New York, Sept. 28.—With the bone-dry members of the party in open revolt the New York Republican State convention ended today
with the nomination of a wet
ticket headed by Senator James W.
Wadsworth, jr., candidate for re-election, and Representative Ogden
Mills, candidate for governor.

The prohibition revolt as represented in the convention membership was of negligible proportions
and the regulars pronounced this an index of what it will amount to at the polls. The bone dries who have put up former State Senator Cristman as an independent candidate against Wadsworth in the convention commanded so slender a backing of delegates that they did not even place him in nomination.
Wadsworth's was the only name presented and out of 1,317 votes
in the convention he received 1,235. There were only 58 votes for Cristman, 23 delegates being recorded as not voting and one voting for Charles E. Hughes.

The name of Representative
Mills was the only one presented for nomination for governor and he received the votes of all the delegates but 15, who were reported as not voting.

Dries Not Bound by Vote.

The Cristman delegates served written notice on the convention
that they would not consider themselves bound by the nomination of Wadsworth and immediately flocked to the Hotel Imperial, where the Rev. S. E. Nicholson, temporarily detached from the Antislavery league, is directing the Cristman campaign to beat Wadsworth. Dr.
Nicholson cheered them with accounts of the accession of numerous aggregations of Republicans who find common cause in the purpose to defeat the senator who dared to propose repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The main object of the insurgent dries is to punish Wadsworth and oust him from his ruling position in the party as a prelude to reorganization with the dries in the saddle. Dr. Nicholson makes no bones of this. He is willing to let the rest of the wet Republican ticket get itself elected if it can. His chief concern is beating Wadsworth.

Incidentally to this chief object
Cristman may be elected, as Dr.
Nicholson views it, through division of the wets between Wadsworth and Justice Wagner, the Democratic candidate for senator.

Actually, the Antislavery league,
W. C. T. U. or other prohibition

RESCUE OF MINERS MAY REQUIRE WEEK

42 Entombed in Michigan Shaft Can Live for That Time, Is Belief.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 28 (By A.
P.).—Many additional hours of ceaseless toil in the underground passageways of the G. Pabst mine will be necessary before the fate of the 42 miners imprisoned there since Friday is learned.

Officials of the Oliver Iron Mining Co., directing the rescue work, refused tonight to estimate the probable time when the men will be reached and one engineer said it might take a week or ten days.

Whether the men are rescued alive depends, they said, on earth
conditions encountered in boring toward the eighth level of the mine, 727 feet below the surface,
where the men are imprisoned.

Wives and children of the entombment miners found a note of hope in the declaration of Dr. E. H. Mad-ejosky, physician and surgeon of the Oliver company, who said he believed the men could "live at least two weeks with fresh air and water and without food. The fact that the eighth level is warm is much in their favor."

D. I. WALSH REQUESTS DRY ACT MODIFICATION

Principal Plank in Platform
Submitted at Boston Convention.

GASTON ALSO A SPEAKER

Boston, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).— Repeal of the prohibition law and enactment of a system of regulation
for the sale of liquor were urged
by Col. William A. Gaston, Democratic nominee for governor of Massachusetts, in his acceptance speech
before the Democratic State convention tonight.

Former Senator David I. Walsh, who will seek to regain his seat in the United States Senate at the November election, referred to probi-tion as the dominant issue in the campaign and one which had been avoided by the Republican party in Massachusetts. He likened his Republican opponent, Senator William M. Butler, to a "political Rip Van Winkle, raking over the ash heap
of dead political issues."

He challenged Senator Butler to discuss the real issues of the campaign, which he said included:
"Government control of political expenditures to insure honest primaries and elections, the growing
'menace' of bureaucratic government, the intervention of international bankers in our foreign relations to involve us in foreign entanglements and to secure cancellation of foreign debts, the modification of the Volstead law and the development of the merchant marine."

On prohibition, Mr. Walsh said:
"I am not in favor of the return of the saloon with its saturnalia of vice."

A. F. A. Smith Case Causes Jury Doubt

Whitstable, England, Sept. 28
(By A. P.).—A coroner's jury returned its verdict today in the inquiry into the death of John Thomas Derham, who was killed August 12 in a quarrel with Alphonse F. A.
Smith at Smith's villa, Stella Maris,
at this place.

Smith, who is a grandson of the late Hugh Ryan, of Canadian railroad building fame, and a former officer of the Dragon guards, was charged with murder, but the jury found that insufficient evidence had been presented to show who fired
the shot, and whether it was by accident or design.

$40,000 of Bonds Merton Paid King Sold by Smith

Government Completes Case Against Daugherty and Miller—Motion to Strike Out Part of German Magnate's Testimony Argued in Chambers.

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—
The government today rested its case against Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, charged with defrauding the government of their best services as Attorney General and alien property custodian, in permitting the release in 1921 of $7,000,000 impounded assets of the American Metals Co.

As soon as United States Attorney Buckner announced that he had completed his case, Judge Black excused the jury for the day, adjourned court until tomorrow, and then went into conference in his chambers with attorneys for both sides
to discuss motions concerning the dismissal of the trial and admissibility of much of the government's evidence. If any of the motions are granted, announcement will be made when court opens tomorrow.

The principal witness was Richard Merton, the German metal magnate, who came to this country and gave John T. King $441,000 to "help and speed" release of the $7,000,000 assets. It is the government's contention that a great part of this $441,000 found its way into the hands of Daugherty and Miller,

and was the inducement which caused them to conspire against the government. Three weeks have been occupied in tracing Liberty bonds, which Merton gave to King, to the brokerage and banking accounts of the defendants.

Merton was interrogated by both William S. Rand, attorney for Miller, and Max D. Steuer, counsel for Daugherty, concerning the testimony he gave when he was called by the prosecution as the first witness in the trial. He went over in detail his coming to this country,
his conversations with government officials and the status of the German enterprises interested in the American Metals Co. Buckner

U. S. WINS TEAPOT OIL SUIT ON APPEAL; SINCLAIR'S LEASE ORDERED CANCELED; CASE NOW WILL GO TO SUPREME COURT

Writ of Certiorari May Hold Up Execution of the Order.

POMERENE VICTORY
TO AID HIS CAMPAIGN

Ohio Senate Nominee Credited With Having Done Much of the Legal Work.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The decision of the United States circuit court of appeals means that the Teapot Dome oil lease, as well as the Doheny Pan-American lease, will go to the Supreme Court for final determination. Thus, the fight to a finish over the civil cases involved in the leases has virtually reached the point where the highest tribunal is to review the evidence and the law and mete out justice
from which there will be no appeal either by the government or the defendant oil companies.

As the Supreme Court has granted
the appeal of the Pan-American
co. for a writ of certiorari because of the magnitude of the property rights and issues involved, a similar appeal by the Mammoth Oil Co. will be granted, according to the censuses here. In the Pan-American or Doheny case, arguments before the Supreme Court will be heard next week. Delays incident to the printing of the records and other factors are expected to bring the Mammoth Oil com-case before the Supreme Court
some three or four months from the date set for the Pan-American case.

Technically, the Supreme Court's action in granting the writ of cer-torari means that the lower court
certifies the full record of the case to the highest tribunal for such action as that tribunal may wish to take in reviewing the points of law involved and the application of the evidence to the law. But in the oil cases, which have assumed such importance to the nation, as in other important cases of the past, the Supreme Court is expected to fully review the cases and virtually render final decisions of its own.

Comes as Surprise Here.

Judge William S. Kenyon's sweeping decision reversing the decision which Judge T. Blake Kennedy rendered at Cheyenne when he upheld
the Mammoth Oil Co. on all counts, came as a surprise here. Little comment, however, was available, as the majority of those who have been active in the cases were absent from the city.

Former Senator Allee Pomerene
and Owen J. Roberts, the government special counsel in the oil
cases, are expected here by the end of the week or early next week to argue the government's case before the Supreme Court and to be present on Monday when Doheny's appeal to the District Court of Appeals comes up. Frank J. Hogan, representing Mr. Doheny, is on his way to Washington from Los Angeles. George P. Hoover, representing the Sinclair interests, is here, but naturally awaits the full record.

BREAD AND WATER DIET OF ATTORNEYS AMUSES NAVY MEN

Officers, Scoffing at Danger, Hold Service Prisoners Never Suffered.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT AIDS TRY SLENDER FARE

Lawyers Start Test to Determine if Punishment Is Inhumane.

The hullabaloo over a bread-and-water diet for prisoners, which was heightened yesterday when two Department of Justice attorneys decided to go on such a diet, has drawn only an amused smile from officers in the United States Navy.

Bread and water has been a prisoner's diet in the navy since there has been a navy, if you except the two years when it was banned in Josephus Daniels. Under the present regulations a bluejacket who has misbehaved may be sentenced to 30 days on bread and water.

It is seldom, however, that the 30-day sentence is imposed, as was said at the Navy Department yesterday, the average sentence on such fare being for five days. In the army the bread-and-water "cure" is never imposed for more than 24 hours according to the War Department.

Attorneys Begin Test.

The two Department of Justice officials who are putting themselves on a bread-and-water diet are Attorney Howard T. Jones, chief assistant to Assistant Attorney General Mabel Walker Willebrandt, and Arthur W. Henderson, attorney in charge of admiralty cases in the department. Their purpose is to determine whether a bread-and-water diet is "cruel and inhumane."

A 75-year-old judge in Nebraska is responsible for the experiment. Two months ago this judge leaped into prominence by sentencing bootleggers to a bread-and-water diet. Swamped by criticism, the judge decided to sentence himself to bread and water. Five days later he came off the diet, and although ten pounds lighter, announced that he never felt better in his life and that he would continue the punishment for bootleggers.

Evidently the navy does not think a bread-and-water diet is cruel or inhumane. One of the regulations governing punishments declares that commanding officers shall see that no prisoner is allowed to suffer "cruel or unusual" treatment.

Abolished by Daniels.

While Josephus Daniels was Secretary of the Navy he had the bread-and-water diet abolished. But his successor, Edwin Denby, had it restored, much to the gratification of veteran officers in the service. The latter, it was said yesterday at the Navy Department, are strong for the bread-and-water cure and scoff at the suggestion that it is inhumane.

It was emphasized at the Department of Justice yesterday that the action of Attorney Henderson and Jones was purely unofficial, and was not inspired by Mrs. Willebrandt, who has charge of the prosecution of prohibition cases.

"We are just giving it a try," Jones said. "We are interested to see how severe it is, but the outcome of our test will have no effect on the administration of this diet with the Nebraska court or any other court which desires to order it. Of course most of us can stand to lose a little weight, but I am afraid this won't do it."

Attorney General Sargent, when questioned about the test yesterday, said he was taking no interest in it. He said further that he had no intention of going on a diet himself.

Dying Policeman Reports Absence From Naval Drill

Bandits' Victim, Through Wife, Avoids A. W. O. L.
Charge in Reserve Corps—Dies Before Rear
Admiral's Letter of Praise Reaches Him.

Policeman Leo W. K. Busch missed drill in the District naval reserve Monday night, but through his wife he sent word that he was not A. W. O. L. He was dying.

Policeman Busch was a first-class radio man in the navy, and since entering the reserve had never missed a drill. A gun battle with highwaymen Sunday sent him to a hospital. In the shadow of death he remembered that Monday night was drill night and that he could not go. So he sent his wife to tell the reserve divisional commander. In answer to the message Rear Admiral J. R. Y. Blakely, acting chief, bureau of navigation, sent Policeman Busch the following reply: "It is learned through the local newspapers that you were badly wounded while in the execution of your duties on the Washington police force. It appears that last night. When he brought it up, he said:

"Well, it looks like the electric chair for me."

Eagles also bowed his head, but said nothing. The two women who are being held, Mrs. Pal Eagles and Miss Gladys R. James, burst into tears.

Eagles was furious when detectives told him that McCabe, the man arrested, had denied doing any shooting. The half-breed told the detectives that if McCabe were put in the same cell with him he would kill him.

Policeman Frank L. Ach, 24 years old, who was also seriously wounded in the fray, was reported improving by his physicians. Both of the patrolmen are attached to the Tenth precinct, the only one in which they have performed duty.

Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt ordered an inquest at the morgue at 11:30 o'clock today to fix the responsibility for the death of the patrolman.

Detectives Edward Kelly, Thomas Sweeney and Joseph Waldron, of the Central office, took the gunmen to Garfield hospital Monday where both Ach and Busch identified the three.

Busch attempted to grab Marino, crying, "That's the man who shot me." The three, according to the police, have admitted having taken part in the shooting and in a number of holdups committed recently. Marino and Eagles were captured shortly after the shooting. Following close questioning by Capt. Fred Corwell and Tenth precinct police, the identity of the other two were learned.

Combines 2 Holdings.

One of the largest waterfront properties in the vicinity of Annapolis, combining "Thunder and Lightning Point," approximately 300 acres, and "Simplicity," 29 acres, immediately adjoining, has been purchased by Truxtun Beale, of Washington. The consideration is understood to have been more than $100,000.

The combined estates were owned by Col. and Mrs. Julian H. Harris, of Detroit, Mich., who have lived there for several years. The property, having a river frontage of about 3 miles, is on the north side of the river. The improvements consist of a twelve-room mansion, commanding an excellent view of Chesapeake bay, a sunken Italian garden, detached guests' quarters, beautifully furnished, four tenant houses, modern barns and all equipment for dairying and farming.

On the "Simplicity" estate, there is a large seven-room bungalow, dog kennel, garage and other buildings. The transaction involves all personal property. It was consummated through Charles F. Lee, Annapolis broker.

COOLIDGE DESIRES FEDERAL BUILDINGS, NOT REALTY DEALS

Appropriations Should Be Used for Erection, Spokesman Emphasizes.

BUYING OF LAND FAILS TO CUT DOWN RENTALS

$50,000,000 From Congress
for Construction, Not Site Purchases.

President Coolidge wants the millions appropriated for erection of Federal buildings in Washington directed toward erection of the buildings, it was indicated by the presidential spokesman yesterday. Other phases, it was indicated, could be considered later, but emphasis should be placed on building the buildings.

Saying no conclusion had been reached on any proposal for condemnation and purchase of private property south of Pennsylvania avenue, it was reported as the President's opinion that the $50,000,000 appropriated by Congress was for buildings and not real estate.

Acquisition of Land, it was explained, would not relieve paying of rentals, relieve existing congestion of some governmental units or the need of their consolidation elsewhere. These conditions inspired the immediate building program.

There is an embryonic plan to acquire all land between Pennsylvania avenue, Sixth, Fifteenth and B streets with government funds now available, use the money being delayed by preparation of plans and condemnation proceedings.

A new phase was injected into the controversy over preservation of the historic patent office or its proposed incorporation in the Commerce building, by wholesale drugists in convention at French Lick Springs, Ind., yesterday. The present building was declared a trap and a later airport building was urged at the meeting.

Civic Association Defeats Boycott

Lieut. Thomas H. R. Clark, recently returned from France, presented his impressions of European conditions before the Georgetown Civic association last night at the Ebenezer African Methodist Episcopal church. George T. Beason presided. A motion to boycott certain community merchants was defeated by a close vote.

The association favored establishment of magistrates courts, and a midcity municipal market. Extension of one-side parking on Twenty-seventh street from Q to O streets was asked. The association also formulated a request for a traffic officer at Twenty-eighth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest in the morning before 8:30 o'clock.

Former Judge Brands Republicans Corrupt

Close contact between the Republican party and the "economic interests" has caused corruption of the Republican administration in the last six years, former Judge Robert Hardison told the weekly meeting of the National Democratic club of Washington last night.

Elwood Seal, chairman of the Maryland Sixth congressional Democratic extension committee, reported on progress of the campaign of Frank W. Misk against Representative Frederick N. Zihlman for the House. Information concerning absent voting regulation is being supplied at the organization's headquarters, 320 Connecticut avenue. Fred P. Myers, president of the club, presided.

Jury in Traffic Case, Out 11 Hours, Disagrees

A record for the length of deliberation by a jury in a traffic case was established last night when a jury failed to agree in the trial of Dudley R. Hardesty, 1617 Fifth street northwest, after being locked in for 11 hours and 5 minutes. The members were discharged at 11:20 p. m. by Judge George H. Macdonald.

Policemen Prestel and Hicks, of the Ninth precinct, testified that on February 21 last Hardesty, a guard at St. Elizabeths hospital, ran over the pavement at Second street and Massachusetts avenue northeast and was arrested while kicking a lamp-post on the corner. Miss M. G. Bowman, a nurse at the hospital, testified in behalf of Hardesty.

The jury was locked in, and with the exception of dinner hour debated from 12:15 p. m. until last night, when the count is said to have stood 8 to 4 for conviction.

BELL TELLS ENGINEERS OF FUTURE WASHINGTON

Commissioner Pictures Great Expansion of City at Sanitary Group's Sessions.

EXPECT 100 DELEGATES

Tremendous growth of the National Capital in the future was visualized by Engineer Commissioner J. Franklin Bell, speaking yesterday morning in welcome to the American Society of Sanitary Engineering that opened its twenty-first annual convention in the Lee house.

The present 10 mile area of the District of Columbia in the future will mark only the downtown section of Washington, Col. Bell told the gathering.

The importance of the newly created National Capital park and planning commission in the city's future development was stressed by the commissioner. He outlined the plans of that body for expansion of the city in Maryland and Virginia. Col. Bell pointed out that Washington was particularly fortunate in having a plan of development when the city was first laid out. This plan will be followed in the future charting of the city's development, he said.

Col. Bell explained to the visitors that the present turn up condition of so many of the city streets was due to repair work being done which was neglected during the war when all the labor and energies of the nation were directed into war channels. The city is now just catching up on that work, he explained, adding that the reconstruction was one of the greatest in the history of Washington.

A registration of 100 delegates is expected to be realized before the convention is over Friday. The society has a membership of 300 sanitary engineers in this country, Canada and Great Britain.

Joseph J. Crotty, of Boston, president of the society, presided at the opening session. Reports of officers were given at the afternoon session.

YACHTSMAN ARRESTED FOR NEW YORK POLICE

Morton P. Allen Taken Here
on Telegram Charging Him With $10,000 Larceny.

CAME ON PRIVATE BOAT

Morton P. Allen, 32 years old, a broker of New York city, and scion of a prominent wealthy Southern family, was arrested at the George Washington Inn, New Jersey avenue and C street southeast, last night by Headquarters Detectives Thomas Walsh and Richard Mansfield.

Allen was taken into custody following the receipt of a telegram at police headquarters here stating that he was wanted in New York city to answer charges of the larceny of $10,000. He is being held here as a fugitive from justice pending the arrival of New York detectives.

When arrested Allen, according to the detectives, jumped from his chair in the lobby of the hotel and denied that his name was Morton P. Allen. He said he was Morton P. Allen, a brother of Clyde, according to Mansfield. Later he admitted that he was the man described in the telegram and accompanied the detectives to headquarters.

He said, according to Walsh and Mansfield, that he had received $10,000 from a Mrs. Julia Love, of New York city, about a year ago with instruction to invest it in cotton stocks. He invested the money on margin, Allen said, according to the police, and when the price of the stocks fell, he not only lost Mrs. Love's money but several thousand dollars of his own attempting to protect her margin.

Allen came to this city several weeks ago on his own going back to the West, which is anchored in the Potomac. Allen told police that the yacht was valued at $35,000, they said. Immediately after his arrest Allen conferred with his lawyers and later was released on a writ of habeas corpus on $10,000 bond for a hearing before a United States commissioner October 8.

ELECTRIC REFUND BOND RELIEF ASKED

Petition Sets Forth $402,-
000, Remains of $3,000,000
Ordered Distributed.

The Potomac Electric Power Co. has distributed to consumers of electric power all but $402,000 of a sum of approximately $3,000,000 under the consent decree of December 31, 1924, according to a petition filed yesterday in equity court for William F. Ham, president of the company, by Attorney S. R. Bowman.

The $3,000,000 is one-half of an impounded fund of $6,000,000 which accumulated under the terms of an injunction obtained by the power company against the public utilities commission on August 21, 1917.

The petition contains a request that the power company be relieved of an injunction bond furnished by direction of the court to protect consumers and the commission in event the rates, to which the power company objected, were held valid by the appellate court.

WITNESSES UNABLE TO SAY EVANGELIST LIVED AT COTTAGE

Carmel House Owner Thinks Occupant Very Similar to Mrs. McPherson.

FUEL DEALER INSISTS
HE SAW LEADER THERE

Ormiston Sought in Canada
as Result of Message Sent to Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—H. C. Benedict, owner of the cottage at Carmel, Calif., where the State contends Almas Semple McPherson, evangelist, remained with Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus temple radio operator, for ten days after she disappeared May 18, testified here today that the woman who occupied the house was very similar in appearance to Mrs. McPherson.

He refused, however, to attempt identification of the evangelist in court, declaring he couldn't be sure because of the goggles and large brimmed hat worn by the woman at Carmel.

The cottage owner declared that while planting flowers about the house he saw a vividly green bathing suit hanging on the clothes line.

Mrs. McPherson was reported to have been wearing a green bathing suit when she disappeared from the beach at Ocean Park, May 18.

Other Witnesses Fail.

Benedict followed other witnesses who likewise failed to identify the evangelist as the woman companion of the man who gave his name as George McIntyre. William Mack, a laundryman who delivered laundry to the Benedict cottage, said he could not remember having seen any woman about the cottage when McIntyre lived there.

William H. McMichael, a stone mason, said he had seen the woman five or six times but could not identify her as Mrs. McPherson. The evangelist removed her hat in the court room, exposing her hair, but the witness said he could not say he had seen her before.

Benedict described the cottage and its location in relation to the beach. He said his cottage had

Clinic Movies May End Need for Vivisection

Paris, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—The censorship of motion picture films is purely a national matter which can not be controlled by any international body, it has been concluded by a special committee of the international motion picture congress now in session here.

C. C. Pettjohn, assistant to Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, was expected to be present, but did not participate in the discussion. The committee's findings will be embodied in a resolution which will be presented at a plenary meeting tomorrow.

It was asserted that extended use of films of surgical operations in clinics in time might be counted on to do away with the necessity of vivisection.

been rented to a man who said he was "George McIntyre," on May 4, through a realty company. McIntyre wanted the house late on May 18 or early May 19.

He said he and his wife moved out of the cottage late on May 18. Returning the next morning about 10 o'clock he said he noticed the garage was locked and saw other evidence that the house had been occupied.

He returned to the cottage about 11 o'clock the next day to plant some flowers. McIntyre came out of the house and remarked he wanted Benedict to meet his wife. When the woman came out, she and McIntyre walked over and stood beside Benedict. An introduction followed.

Hair and Eyes Hidden.

He said the woman had on a white felt hat, goggles over her eyes and black satin slippers. Her hair was drawn low. He said he could not see her hair nor her eyes.

"Asked if he could recognize the woman again if he saw her, he said he did not think he could, but estimated her height at 5 feet 7 inches and her weight at 140 pounds. Keyes asked him how Mrs. McPherson compared with the woman, physically.

"Very similar," Benedict replied. Benedict did not know when the couple left his cottage. On May 29 he said he received a letter from Salinas, Calif., stating McIntyre had left and was going to New York on account of the illness of his wife's mother.

Most of the morning was occupied in cross-examination by Attorney W. I. Gilbert, chief of counsel for Mrs. McPherson, of Ernest Renkert, fuel man of Carmel. Renkert's story that he saw a woman whom he identified in court as Mrs. McPherson in the yard of the Benedict cottage at Carmel, was not changed under cross-examination.

The Times announced it received a telegram yesterday from Windsor, Ontario, signed by Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator of Angelus temple, who is sought in connection with the McPherson case. The message read:

"Stories published about me attempting to negotiate for immunity are without my authority. I have nothing to fear except a divorce action. If I ever need attorneys in Los Angeles it will be MacDonald and Thompson, Law building. The whole thing is a huge plot which Keyes (district attorney) has either fallen for or is a party to."

At the Windsor telegraph office it was declared the message was left under the door, with sufficient money for its sending.

Sought in Windsor.

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Kenneth G. Ormiston is being sought here as a result of a telegram signed in his name received yesterday by the Los Angeles Times.

Orville G. Adams, chief immigration inspector here, said that if Ormiston entered Canada under an assumed name, or without registering in the usual way, he was liable to arrest and deportation.

U. S. WILL NOT ACCEPT ARMS BUDGET SCHEME

Expenditures Here on Each Man Far Above Those of Other Nations.

NOLAN PRESENTS VIEW

Geneva, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Brig. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan today told the military committee of the disarmament commission that the American delegation was unable to accept the proposal that national budgets for defense afforded a true measure of armaments.

In opposing a project to limit armaments by reducing armament budgets, Gen. Nolan said that the pay of an American soldier would cover that of 58 French soldiers, 41 Italian soldiers and 11 Japanese soldiers. He also asserted that the subsistence cost of one American soldier would pay for the feeding of two and a half French and Italian soldiers and one and a half Japanese and British soldiers.

The military committee already had decided that it would be misleading to compare the armaments of various countries by comparing armament expenditures, and is now asking whether it is possible to insure the reduction of armaments by paring down expenditures.

The French delegation thinks that it is possible to do this. Gen. Nolan, however, maintained that expenditures for national defense afford neither a fair basis of comparison nor a satisfactory method of limiting armaments.

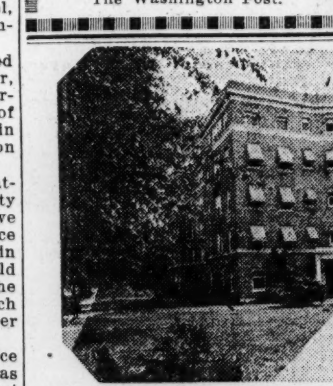

The military committee expects to continue its labors without interruption until its agenda is cleaned up, which probably will be about October 1.

Princess Joachim Married.

Berlin, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Princess Joachim, of Prussia, widow of former Emperor William's youngest son, was married yesterday to Herr Johann Michael von Leon, only son of Hans von Leon, court marshal of Anhalt. Prince Joachim committed suicide in 1921.

Thermometer Is Latest In Police Equipment

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—To the revolver and night stick, carried by the policeman of this city has been added a new weapon—thermometer. An order issued today by Mayor Bauer gave the Lynn patrolman his extra piece of equipment.

Complaints from apartment house tenants that their landlords had neglected to furnish heat on chill September nights prompted the mayor's action.

Under today's ruling, when the temperature falls below 50 degrees, it will be the duty of the patrolman to enter apartment houses on his beat and draw his mercury thermometer. If the mercury registers below 68 degrees, he will report the fact to the city authorities and pressure will be brought to bear on the landlord.

German Women Play State Lottery Keenly

Berlin, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—"Lady Luck" is being chased at such a pace by German women that state lottery officials contemplate increasing the number of tickets sold from 700,000 to 1,000,000 in each of the semiannual lotteries.

Women make up approximately 60 per cent of the 5,000,000 persons in Prussia, Bavaria, Baden and Wuerttemberg who buy whole or fractions of tickets. In many cases, officials said, the greater gambling instinct in women is responsible for husbands and sweethearts taking chances on winning up to $100,000 on a whole ticket that sells for $30. The gambling fever has increased 100 per cent since the war, principally among women. The four states net about $8,000,000 annually out of the scramble from a 20 per cent tax on all winnings.

EXPENSE ROLL, 145 B. C. IS ON WAY TO AMERICA

Tax Receipts, Charms, Vases
in Ancient Collection for Michigan U.

MANY DOCUMENTS DATED

London, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Prof. Francis W. Kelsey, of the University of Michigan, is returning to the United States with a remarkable collection of ancient documents ranging in date from the middle of the third century B. C., to the end of the sixth century A. D., which has been presented to the university by Oscar Webber and Richard H. Webber, of Detroit.

The collection was brought together in Egypt, and comprises more than 350 documents. Some are fragmentary, but many are complete and perfectly preserved. Nearly all are on papyrus; a few are on waxed tablets. The language is chiefly Greek, but there is a select group of Coptic documents. There is a bilingual papyrus in Greek and Latin containing a portion of a report in a law case. On a waxed tablet is part of a Latin deed in which is a reference to the last year of the reign of the Emperor Hadrian, 139 A. D.

The contents are varied. There are petitions, one of which is addressed to the governor of Egypt; contracts, leases and receipts for money; lists of workmen, statements of account and tax rolls, magical charms, an order for the supply of a donkey to provide transportation, private letters and a few fragments of literary works, chiefly verses of epic poetry, in part Homeric.

Among the dated documents are a complete expense account of the year 145 or 135 B. C., 1 foot in length and 3 1/2 inches wide, a tax receipt dated 152 A. D., an official statement of an amount of grain delivered at Alexandria in 374 A. D., and a surety for tenants remaining on their holdings, dated in 594 A. D.

$75,000 in Liquor
Regained by Owner

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Prohibition liquor valued at $75,000, which was seized by Sheriff W. S. Knight and W. T. Griffin, inspectors of detectives in the downtown store-residence of Louis Glinocchio last summer, has been restored to its owner, the sheriff revealed today.

The confiscated liquor, including many cases of rare bourbon, champagne and cordials, was restored under an order of Judge H. W. Laughlin, of the circuit court, who held that the seizure which followed search of Glinocchio's home by the officers was illegal.

402 VESSELS SUNK OR RUINED IN MIAMI AREA BY HURRICANE

Bay and River Reveal Hells of 202 Craft; Others
Wrecked on Land.

IS ESTIMATED AT 47,100

Many Have Left the District Without Reporting on Losses, Is Belief.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—More than 402 craft were sunk or wrecked in the Miami area during the hurricane, the marine unit of the citizens committee estimated today. A survey of Biscayne bay and the Miami river revealed 202 boats sunk or wrecked, exclusive of 200 other boats lying high and dry along the bay front and in Royal Palm Park.

In the waters of the bay lie the remains of 58 craft, including 3 sloops, 20 barges, 20 yachts, 2 motor boats, a dredge, 3 houseboats, 1 tug, 1 rigged yawl, a converted subchaser and 2 schooners, 2 of which were four-masted.

Most of the 144 craft sunk or wrecked in the river were of light draft, including 51 houseboats, 22 yachts, 46 motor boats and launchers, 10 barges, 6 scows, 3 lighters, a fishing smack, 2 derricks, a tug, a dredge and 1 oil boat. Almost every houseboat in the river was believed occupied and their loss rendered many homeless.

Homeless Total 47,100. American Red Cross officials today estimated the number of homeless families in the storm-stricken area at 15,700. With a conservative average of three persons to a family, the number of needy refugees was believed to be more than 47,100.

The greater Miami district, including Miami, Miami Beach, Hialeah, Coconut Grove and communities within the city limits, led the list with 5,000 families.

Fort Lauderdale and its environs rated second, with 4,800 families, and Hollywood and the nearby towns of Dania and Hallandale revealed 3,000.

Okcechobee has 1,000 families. The tabulation also includes: Okcechobee City section, 1,000 families; Pompano and Deerfield sections, 250; Broward City rural sections, 200; Ojus section, 90; Seminole Indians near Miami, 50; and Homestead and Southern Dade county 500.

Red Cross officials expressed the belief that between 3,000 and 3,500 other families, rendered without shelter, left the scene without reporting their losses.

Wilbur Orders Navy Planes To Aid With Florida Relief

(By the Associated Press.) Secretary Wilbur took immediate steps yesterday to comply with the request of Gov. Martin of Florida for navy aircraft to aid in the locating of bodies in the Florida storm area, particularly in the Moore Haven district.

The Secretary directed the commandant of the naval air station at Pensacola to furnish two planes for the purpose or in the event that damage to the air station during the storm prevented the supplying of the ships from that source to notify the department immediately. In such event the planes will be sent from the nearest navy station where they are available.

The governor's telegram to the Secretary said: "Would it be possible for the Navy Department to send two hydroplanes to assist in locating dead bodies in storm area, to report at Palmdale to Col. Lowry, who is commanding the troops in the Moore Haven district?"

Toronto, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Provincial law enforcement officers today at Chatham entered the private car in which Superintendent James J. Spott, of the police force in Detroit; Claude Renaud, head of the special force of the Michigan Central railway in Canada; Superintendent McHugh, of the Michigan Central railroad, and other persons were passengers and located four cases of whisky and some cartons of beer.

It is said that when inquiries were made by the officers as to the ownership of the beverages, William Lomax, chief of the car, accepted responsibility and was arrested. Later he was tried in the Chatham police court and fined $200.

HURRICANE STRIKES PORT OF VERA CRUZ

(Continued from page 1.) the downtown business section shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Miami evening newspapers carried warnings of a second West Indian hurricane, which government forecasters said was headed toward Miami. City officials issued statements which calmed the populace, but scores of persons made preparations to leave the city. City officials immediately laid plans to protect life and property. Crowds of the anxious, including women and children, flocked to newspaper offices to read latest bulletins issued by Richard Gray, government meteorologist.

(By the Associated Press.) Lacking official reports, the weather bureau is inclined to regard the Vera Cruz hurricane as the culmination of a threatening disturbance observed several days ago in the western Caribbean. Advice received subsequently have contained no indication of its development into a full-fledged hurricane, but if it has gathered force northward toward the Gulf of Mexico, it is the storm which hit Vera Cruz yesterday is correct they see in it little danger for American communities and expect it to dissipate in the mountains west.

Another hurricane of peculiar characteristics which passed over the Azores Monday night, was reported to the bureau yesterday. Like the disastrous Florida hurricane it originated in the Cape Verde island, but took an unusual course northward instead of following the usual toward the United States. Indications of a third tropical disturbance of undetermined intensity several hundred miles north of Porto Rico also were described by the bureau in an advisory storm warning. It was thought to be moving northwest or west-northwest.

Arizona and New Mexico Suffer From Heavy Rains

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Reports from scores of southern Arizona and northern New Mexico points today indicated that the damage wrought by heavy rains over the week was considerably greater than at first indicated.

Scores of bridges were swept away and rail and motor traffic still is paralyzed between Tucson and points southeast. Five Southern Pacific trains, carrying 600 passengers, were detained in Tucson today.

Two more Southern Pacific bridges collapsed today, one at Benson and the other at Fairbanks, Ariz. Train service on the Southern Pacific of Mexico, between Nogales, Sonora and Guaymas, is at a standstill, following the destruction by torrential streams of three bridges. Concrete highway bridges paid their toll to the storm, several being washed away.

Gov. George W. P. Hunt was among the hundreds of motorists who had to abandon their motor cars.

Ward Liner Mexico's Passengers Removed

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Passengers aboard the Ward Line steamer Mexico, which was grounded yesterday on a reef off the Yucatan coast, were removed today by the steamer Rio Brava and will be landed at Havana. There were about 90 passengers on the stranded ship.

After being taken to Havana by the Rio Brava, a Hamburg-American Line ship, the passengers will be brought to New York on the Ward Line steamer Siboney.

COLBY FOR RIPLEY'S BUSINESS PUBLICITY

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—A turning that we are in a critical turn of the road, financially speaking," Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, today came out in support of Prof. William V. Ripley, of Harvard, in advocating all publicity concerning the financial conditions of corporations.

"Corporations have become a baffling obstacle to the security of the investor," Mr. Colby told the convention of the National Association of Security Commissioners.

Addressing himself directly to the securities commissioners, he said: "You are to put business on a plane of truth and honesty and make complete exposure of its true conditions. Complete publicity would turn up the irregularities and imperfections of corporations into the sunlight."

$1,454 DAY'S GIFTS TO HELP HURRICANE VICTIMS IN FLORIDA

City's Contributions More Generous as Fund Draws Nearer $50,000 Quota.

RED CROSS CONTINUES
REFUGEE WORK HERE

Heavy Donations Boost Collections in Capital; National Total Passes $3,000,000.

Local contributions to the Red Cross fund for the relief of the sick and homeless left in the path of the Florida hurricane, showed an increase yesterday, when total collections of $1,454.50 brought the amount so far subscribed here to $18,639.01.

The increase was due to one or two large subscriptions, one from the Washington Chamber of Commerce of $500. William Phelps Eno made a contribution of half this amount, $250. W. T. Gallier contributed $100 and C. E. Gallier $100. Then came the designation of "cash." Another unusual contribution, which, however, will be announced in the list for today, was a sum of $5 raised by patients at the Tuberculosis hospital.

The Post received three contributions yesterday of $5 each, a total of $15. The city's quota is $50,000.

Refugees Aided Here.

The four Red Cross workers at Union station cared for and fed some 20 additional refugees yesterday. Some families apparently well to do were stripped of everything they had. Mrs. W. S. Spenser, in charge of the local Red Cross, is working overtime to care for the victims passing through here.

The total contributions reported at the national headquarters yesterday were not summed up. However, it is said to be something more than $3,000,000. The amount needed, it is said, is $5,000,000.

Contributions received yesterday by The Post were as follows:

D. K. Fargott, $5; S. E. Collins, $5; and J. S. E. $5.
Contributions received at the local Red Cross headquarters, 16 Jackson place northwest, were: Mrs. P. M. Wilson, $3; cash, $100; Miss Frances Lazarow, $5; cash, $1; Josephine P. Kelton, $5; C. J. Bell, $50; Charles Weber, $5; Miss Lee Johannecke, $1; Anna Reeves, $5; Mrs. N. S. Wiley, $5; Laura B. Fargall, $5; Arthur Peter, $20; George E. Jenkins, $5; National Association of Stationers and Manufacturers, additional $5; William P. Eno, $250; Nellie B. Langrell, $1; A. W. Tomlinson, $1; T. V. ## CAMPAIGN INQUIRY GROUP WILL MEET HERE IN NOVEMBER

Reed Committee Expected to Assail Primary Spending
and Dry League.

PLAN EARLY REPORT
ON TWO INVESTIGATIONS

Political Survey Rumors Turn Against Vare and Smith; Fear Senate Ban.

The Senate primary investigating committee, which dug into expenditures in Pennsylvania and Illinois, will reassemble in Washington during the November special session of the Senate for the impeachment trial of Federal Judge English, Senator McNary, committee member, said yesterday. The committee will frame its report to the Senate and be prepared to submit it early in December.

The report, it was intimated, will not only deprecate the expenditures made in behalf of the candidates of Representative William Vare and Frank L. Smith, but may be expected to roundly criticize the political activities of the Antislavery league.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, called on Senator McNary yesterday, it was learned, in an effort to find when the report would be ready.

Senator McNary, just back from the West, found, in Illinois particularly, that the general presumption among the voters that the Reed committee will recommend against the seating of Vare and Smith and that the Senate is prepared to deny them membership, is working adversely upon Smith's candidacy. The same situation is reported true in Pennsylvania, but not to the same marked extent, Senator McNary said.

Fear Loss of Majority.

Some Republican senators who have made a survey of Illinois and the extent of this prejudgment, are fearful that the usual Republican majority of from 700,000 to 1,000,000 will be badly cut if not wiped out, Senator McNary said. In addition, as further complicating the situation, are rumors that the Democratic senatorial candidate, George Brennan, and one of the Republican factions in Cook county, Illinois, have made a "deal" whereby Republican votes will be swung to Brennan in return for assured Republican control of Cook county.

Senator McNary asserted yesterday that he is aware of these rumors, but said the Republican vote in the remainder of the State, especially in the agricultural sections, would be sufficient to offset the loss to the Republican ticket in Chicago and its environs.

Doubt was expressed here that the report of the inquiry committee would go so far as to recommend denial of Senate seats to Smith and Vare without first accepting their credentials and giving them an opportunity to present their side of the case to the Senate privileges and elections committee.

It was also intimated that Senator McNary and Senator Goff, of West Virginia, Republican members of the investigation committee, might submit a minority report. It is assumed that Senator La Follette, Progressive-Republican, can will be found supporting the Democratic views of Senator Reed, chairman of the committee, and Senator King, of Utah.

Kondylis Resignation Presented at Athens

Athens, Sept. 28 (By A. P.). The resignation of Gen. Kondylis, who assumed the premiership after driving out the Pangalos government in the hands of President Kondouriotis, but has not yet been accepted.

The premier placed his resignation at the disposal of the president as one way out of the difficulty arising through the refusal of the anti-Ventzelis parties to take part in the parliamentary elections unless the government resigned.

British Trade Safe In Hankow Region

London, Sept. 27 (By A. P.).—Premier Baldwin today told the house of commons that British steamers are plying unhindered between Canton and Hongkong and that there has been no interference with British trade at Hankow despite recent agitation.

The prime minister said that reinforcements are now being sent to China to render the naval forces in the Far East sufficient to protect British subjects and interests. Military intervention is not warranted, Premier Baldwin said, and no army reinforcements have been dispatched.

Correll, Actor, Asks Divorce.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (By A. P.). Charles Correll, member of the radio team known as "Sam and Henry," filed suit for divorce today against Mrs. Vivian Correll of Rock Island. Correll charged desertion.

TROOPER IS RETURNED AS HALL CASE WITNESS

Dickman, Army Prisoner in California, Arrives at New York on Transport.

WIDOW VISITS THE JAIL

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.). Harry L. Dickman, former New Jersey State trooper, wanted for questioning in connection with his part in the investigation of the Hall-Mills murder, arrived at the army base at Brooklyn today on the army transport St. Mihiel. Inspector Underwood, of the Jersey City police, expected to interview him tonight.

Dickman, an army prisoner at Alcatraz Island, Calif., was quoted in California newspapers as having said he was "paid to shut up and get out of New Jersey." This statement was later denied.

Somerville, N. J., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—A prosecution move for separate trials of the four defendants in the Hall-Mills murder case will be argued here Saturday.

Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson is seeking to have Willie Stevens, brother of the slain clergyman's widow, tried before Mrs. Hall, her other brother, Henry Stevens, and her cousin, Henry Carpenter. Mr. Simpson said he did not know when trial would be brought.

Counsel for the four Hall-Mills defendants announced an effort would be made to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, plaintiff, who is the State's mainstay in the trials. This followed charges made by investigators that private detectives employed by the defense

ST. PAUL ROAD SALE IS ORDERED BY COURT

Auction Set for No. 22, With Upset Price Fixed at $122,500,000.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Sale at public auction of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad on November 22 of this year was ordered today by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

At the same time Judge Wilkerson fixed the upset or minimum price at $122,500,000. The sale is to be held at Butte, Mont.

Judge Wilkerson maintained that the charges in the petition for intervention filed by James H. Wilkerson as he Jameson committee representing $18,000,000 in bondholders have not been sustained and that they have been effectively denied in specific affidavits by the trustees of the railroad.

The intervention petition, denied by the judge in an earlier decision, charged that trustees of the majority bondholders as well as the receivers for the railroad were committed to the Kuhn Loeb reorganization plan which the Jameson committee had opposed.

RECOUNTS MURDER TALE; BLAMES JUSTICE AGENTS

Witness Against Osage Cattle
Baron Now Denies He Slew
Indian Woman.

DID NOT EVEN SEE HER

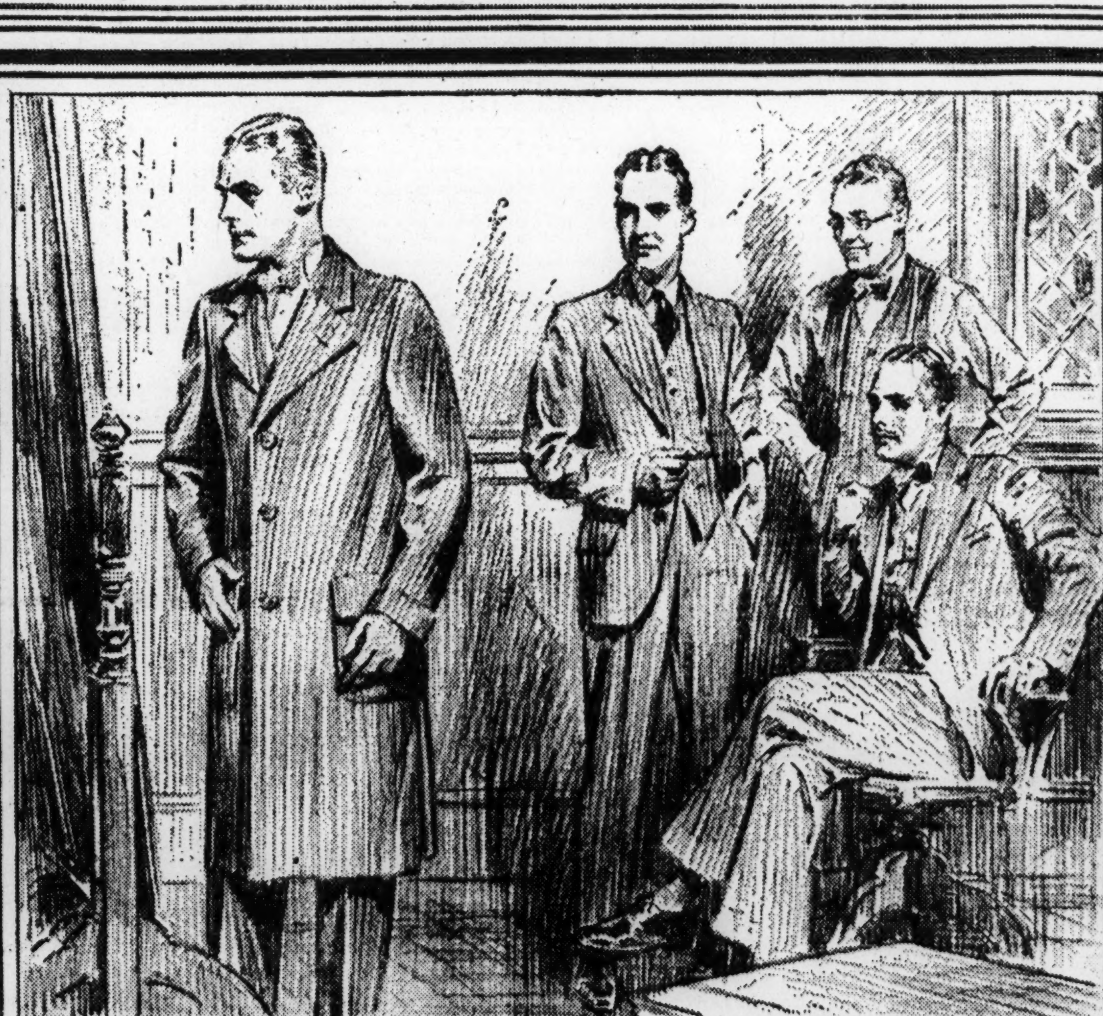

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Kelsay Morrison, former convict, has repudiated a confession that he killed Anna Brown, Indian woman, at the behest of W. K. Hale, baron of the Osage cattle country and accused plotter of several murders against wealthy Indians.

Morrison made the denial yesterday when he appeared before Federal Judge J. H. Cotteral to be sentenced for a liquor law violation. He said he had never seen the woman and declared his story of the killing was a fabrication, prompted by T. B. White and Frank Smith, agents of the Department of Justice.

The story of the killing of the woman was told by Morrison at Pawhuska, Okla., at the trial of Ernest Burkhardt, nephew of Hale, on a charge of slaying W. E. Smith, Fairfax rancher. Federal and State officers attempted to link Hale with several mysterious deaths in the Osage country. It was charged that Hale was responsible for the death of Smith, who with his Indian wife and a housemaid, was killed in an explosion that destroyed their home.

The LAIRD... a conspiracy to give you a finer overcoat

Three conspirators met in Kuppenheimer Style Studios a while ago. "What shall we do?" asked one, "to produce a finer overcoat—combining maximum Style with maximum Utility?"

"I'll find the Cloth," said the woolen man. "A weather-proofed Scotch fabric... shedding water like a slicker, holding warmth like a fur pelt, and radiating beauty as only a heather-bloom woolen can."

"I'll design the Style," said the fashion man, "creating a coat with John Barrymore distinction."

"And I'll finish the job," said the master tailor, "pooling our efforts into a finished garment; stitching serviceability with elegance, ruggedness with refinement."

So came the LAIRD... a coat to grace the sunny Avenue but to defeat the hardest wear and weather on the frontier. A courtly coat with an iron constitution.

May we have the pleasure of showing you the new Kuppenheimer LAIRDS for Fall and Winter? They're here... both in topcoat and overcoat weights and models.

SMITH NOMINATED FOR FOURTH TERM; COURT PLANK WINS

Platform Said to Boost New York Governor for the Presidency in 1928.

R. F. WAGNER IS CHOSEN TO OPPOSE WADSWORTH

G. O. P. Senator's Stand on Prohibition Criticized; Modification Asked.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Alfred E. Smith, of New York, was unanimously and enthusiastically nominated for a fourth term as governor by the New York State Democratic convention here today.

His associates on the State ticket all were nominated by acclamation. Edwin Corning, Albany, was nominated for lieutenant governor and Robert F. Wagner, New York, for United States senator.

The mention of Gov. Smith's name was always a signal for demonstrations throughout the session. He was alluded to repeatedly as the next President of the United States.

"One nomination at a time," said he, in opening his speech of acceptance.

Hope for Advancement Seen.

Indication of his hope for political advancement was seen in his successful insistence against pronounced opposition that the party platform contain a plank declaring for American adherence to the world court. The text of the plank furnished the only real fight in the resolutions committee. As finally accepted the plank was a compromise between the divergent powers.

It follows: "As the Senate of the United States has by its action voted that this nation adhere to the world court, with provisions intended to safeguard our national sovereignty, we trust that if these reservations are accepted our participation will promote the elimination of future wars and the solution of all international disputes."

A liberalization of the Volstead act was urged by the platform and hope was expressed that the electors of the State would vote "yes" on the referendum at the fall election to determine the will of the voters on a memorial to Congress to extend the Volstead law by permitting each State to determine for itself what constitutes "intoxicating liquor."

Attack on Wadsworth.

There was a concerted attack upon the Republican senator from New York, James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who will be Mr. Wagner's opponent in the fall campaign. The first gun in this attack was fired last night by the temporary chairman of the convention, Franklin D. Roosevelt, who devoted a large part of his keynote speech to a denunciation of Senator Wadsworth's official record. The second blast was contained in the party platform, which declared the senator was not representative of the progressivism of the State and its people; that his attitude toward prohibition was hypocritical and in good faith, and his legislative records stamp him as reflecting the position that governmental protection is intended only for "big business and great wealth," and that, "as boss of the Republican political machine," he exerted his influence in opposition to progressive measures advocated by the governor.

Gov. Smith, in his address to the convention today, aimed several shafts at Senator Wadsworth.

Rumor Is Held False.

"There is some talk around the State," he said, "that Al doesn't do anything to hurt Jim and Jim doesn't do anything to hurt Al. That is not correct. I have high regard for the charm, the personality and the integrity of Senator Wadsworth, but in political thought we are as far apart as the two poles. Senator Wadsworth, I believe, does not represent the real expression of the people of the State. We differ on the matter of government. I believe in a human government and want you to know how satisfied and pleased I am in the nomination of Mr. Wagner for United States senator."

Mr. Wagner himself charged Senator Wadsworth with political insincerity in his stand on the prohibition question, saying that at first the senator considered it good politics to be a dry and then later pretended to be a leader of the wets.

The Democratic State convention today established precedent in the political history of New York. In nominating Alfred E. Smith for the governorship for the fifth time it set a new record.

Only two governors of New York previous to Gov. Smith, has served three terms. Gov. Smith is just completing his third term.

Gov. Smith was defeated once, in 1920, when the "Harding landslide" occurred.

Iris Tree Married For Past Ten Years

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Dramatic circles here were surprised tonight to learn that Miss Iris Tree, daughter of Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, had been married about ten years ago to Curtis Moffat, a New York artist. Miss Tree is in this city to play the part of the nun in the "Miracle." Her marriage occurred in Chicago immediately after the announcement of her engagement, but so far as is known, the fact was never published.

The English girl will play the part in the pantomime that formerly was taken by Rosamund Pinchof, niece of Gov. Pinchof of Pennsylvania.

Two Women to Direct Campaign of O. L. Mills

New York, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—The first woman in the history of New York State to hold an elective office and the first one ever elected to the New York city board of aldermen will direct the campaign of the Republicans for election of Ogden L. Mills as governor.

With headquarters in Albany, Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, secretary of State, will handle the up-State campaign, while Mrs. John T. Pratt, New York city's first woman city official, will have charge of the metropolitan campaign. The two women will work in close cooperation with the general campaign committee of the Republican State organization.

Somewhat disappointed because a woman was not included in the State ticket, the women, nevertheless, indicated they would wholeheartedly support the men.

SIX INDICTED IN ATTACK ON SENATOR STANFIELD

Circulation of Alleged Klan Indorsement in Oregon Is Charged.

LAW VIOLATION IS SEEN

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Charles E. German, president of the Multnomah county Republican committee, and five members of the organization were named in indictments returned today by the county grand jury in connection with the circulation of "a yellow ticket" before the primary election last May.

The ticket purported to show the indorsement of United States Senator Robert N. Stanfield by the Ku Klux Klan in his race for renomination to the Republican ticket.

Stanfield, who was defeated by Frederick Steiwer, of Pendleton, and is now campaigning as an independent, charged that the "yellow ticket" was circulated among voters opposed to the Klan in a plot to injure his candidacy.

Those indicted are accused of violating the corrupt practices act in distributing a circular which did not show on the face of it who was the author and publisher.

NAVY FLIERS TRAIN FOR SCHNEIDER CUP

Italian Aviation Team on Way to Compete in International Contest.

The navy's planes to fly against Italian planes in the Schneider cup races of November 11 will be housed at the naval air station at Anacostia while they are tested and worked out for the race.

Lieut. C. F. Schilt, marine corps, Brown field, Quantico, Va., will succeed the late Lieut. H. J. Norton, killed recently in a crash of Hains point, as the main entry. He is now training for the race.

Other candidates for the racing team are Lieuts. E. H. Conant 2d and C. C. Hamilton, Jr., bureau of aeronautics; Lieut. George R. Henderson, flight officer; Lieut. W. G. Tomlinson, test pilot, Anacostia; and Lieut. J. J. Lenhart, scouting fleet. Commander J. L. Callan, U. S. N. R., who was with the Italian navy during the war, will act as liaison officer between the navy team and the Italian team, members of which are on their way here.

$13,000,000 Asked For Dry Enforcement

(By the Associated Press.)

An appropriation of about $13,000,000 for prohibition enforcement in the next fiscal year has been asked by the Treasury.

Assistant Secretary Andrews yesterday said this appropriation contemplated no material increase over the present allotment, although appropriations for the coast guard and customs services, which also participate in prohibition enforcement, increased the actual total for prohibition enforcement considerably above $13,000,000 for this year. Designation of New Jersey as a separate prohibition district is under consideration.

Hines to Ninth Corps Command on Nov. 20

Maj. Gen. J. L. Hines, chief of staff of the army, who will retire November 20, has been assigned to command the Ninth corps area with headquarters in San Francisco. It was announced at the War Department yesterday.

Maj. Gen. James H. McRae, commander of the Ninth corps area, goes to Governors Island, N. Y., to command the Second corps area, succeeding Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who becomes chief of staff.

Veteran Army Men Greeted by Senator

At a recent military review at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., of the Tenth cavalry and Twenty-fifth infantry, both colored organizations, Senator Ralph Cameron, of Arizona, expressed a desire to meet all soldiers with more than twenty years' service.

More than eighty men came forward equally divided between the two regiments. Their combined service totaled over 2,000 years.

GROESBECK FORCES BARRED BY POLICE FROM OWN DEFEAT

Michigan Governor's Machine Crumbles as F. W. Green Takes Over Control.

DETROIT'S DELEGATION OF 403 IS NOT SEATED

New Leader Obtains Almost Unanimous Support in State Convention.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—The political machine of Gov. Alexander J. Groesbeck was wrecked today while 300 policemen kept Groesbeck supporters from even a glimpse of the catastrophe.

It was a jubilant destruction of a machine that has been driven in triumph through Michigan Republicanism for nearly six years. As uniformed officers stood outside Cass Technical High school, denying admittance to 403 Wayne county supporters of the governor, 888 delegates from out-State cities and towns were inside loudly acclaiming Fred W. Green, nominee for governor, and nominating in its entirety a Green-picked slate of candidates.

For two years the Groesbeck machine has given signs of collapse, losing an essential party in the Michigan county Republicanism. The end was believed to have come two weeks ago when Mayor Fred W. Green, of Ionia, swamped Gov. Groesbeck in a two-man race for the nomination for governor; but the machine showed signs of rejuvenation a week ago when it caused disruption of the Wayne county convention.

Entire Machine Collapses.

Today, however, saw the end. There was no crash; just a sudden collapse of the entire machine. Groesbeck supporters had no voice in a convention dominated by Mayor Green and his allies. The entire Green slate for minor State offices was nominated without any serious attempt by the Groesbeck group to prevent it.

Wayne county (Detroit), which ordinarily has one-third of the voting strength in the State convention, had nothing to say today. The convention, faced with demands to seat both Green and a Groesbeck delegation, turned thumbs down on both and proceeded to the transaction of business without the assistance of Detroit Republican representatives.

The convention's decision barring both delegations was a victory for the Green cohorts, who were virtually without opposition among out-State delegates. By seating the Wayne county Green delegation, it would have accomplished only the increasing of a Green majority that already was all but unanimous.

BOSTON DEMOCRATS ASK DRY ACT REPEAL

evils. I favor the veiling of the control of this question in States. The regulation of habits of the people is essentially, under our form of government, a function of the State. Pending an amendment to this effect, I favor the modification of the Volstead law.

"The most vital, most immediate of all questions and problems confronting the people is that of prohibition," Col. Gaston asserted. "It can not be set aside; it must be repealed. Every candidate on every ballot in this election must come out in the open and state plainly where he stands. There must be no dodging and no evasion; this election must be made a solemn referendum so that the voters and verdict of this Commonwealth may go thundering down to Washington."

Col. Gaston asserted that prohibition had utterly failed to prohibit and that crime, immorality and lawlessness had grown out of the paralysis of the law.

He declared, however, he was opposed to the return of the liquor saloon and favored instead "some reasonable plan of regulation and restriction, akin to the systems of Sweden and Quebec. But until the Volstead law is repealed it must be enforced."

James H. Vahey, permanent chairman of the convention, announced "relentless opposition" to the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act, declaring that only by "their repeal can we restore the reign of law and order and bring back American faith in democracy and representative government."

Speaking as temporary chairman, Andrew J. Peters, former mayor of Boston, denounced encroachment of the Federal government upon the rights of States.

Modification of the Volstead law, and if necessary the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, was the principal plank in the platform submitted today. Fourteen planks, ranging from recommendations of tariff laws designed to benefit Massachusetts industries to favoring the granting of independence to the inhabitants of the Philippine islands, were offered to the convention.

workers in the Cristman bolt are not counting on so roseate an outcome. They will be satisfied if they can split the Republican party sufficiently to compass the election of Justice Bob Wagner, whom the Democrats have nominated to oppose Wadsworth.

The Democratic nomination for senator was going begging until the Republican bone drys raised the standard of revolt. Tammany didn't seem to care who might be named. But when the Antislavery league started the Republican insurrection the Tammany tiger promptly came out of its trance.

Of course, the candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator? Well, rather. No less a candidate than a judge who would resign from the bench to make the race.

The regular Republican leaders are disposed to discount the prophecies of the Cristman bolt. They point out that the concessions made in the prohibition plank in the platform satisfied all but the fanatical drys who never have been members of any party and never have voted for Wadsworth, who has been elected twice without their support.

Representative Hamilton Fish, who led the dry opposition in the convention, announced that he would support Wadsworth and the rest of the ticket.

PROSPERITY AGAIN RESTORED AS PERMANENT G. O. P. ISSUE

In the New England, far West and Middle States there was no movement away from the party.

Above all the Republican leader emphasized prosperity, and said that to attempt to turn from it "would be futile."

"This is a Republican year," said Senator Phipps. "The Republican party will organize the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Seventieth Congress because the people have undiminished confidence in President Coolidge and believe that he should be supported during the next two years by a majority in Congress which will help him maintain the most abundant prosperity the country has ever had under a Republican protective tariff and at the same time uphold his economical and sound administration."

"The senatorial committee is in constant touch with the situation in all of the States where contests are held this fall. Its reports indicate there is no recession in Republican sentiment. Even the border States of Kentucky, Oklahoma, Maryland, Missouri and Arizona look favorable."

Interest in Butler.

"The party is, of course, greatly interested in the election of Senator Butler in Massachusetts. This is naturally so because it is the home State of the President. The situation there looks good. It would be difficult to imagine how it could be otherwise, inasmuch as Massachusetts is an industrial State strong for both the tariff and the President. The result in Maine indicates that the majority of the candidates for Congress was relatively greater than in the landslide of two years ago."

"From New England generally, from the far West and from the middle States we hear of no movement away from President Coolidge and, therefore, from the candidates of the Republican party because there is no reason for a change. When everybody is at work, trade is expanding; when expenditures and taxes are lowered as they have been, the common sense of this country will not turn from a Republican Congress."

"As the work of getting the senatorial campaigns under way progresses it becomes more and more apparent that the Democratic party has reached the state where it is a party national only in its pretensions and without a single national issue on which it can stand squarely with any hope of success."

"Reports from various States show that the Democratic leaders seem determined to proclaim every possible political subject on a paramount issue in the hope of eventually finding something on which they can make an issue capable of popular reaction. In one section one subject is declared paramount, while in another it is forgotten or merely whispered and another brought forward as paramount. As a matter of fact, the paramount issue in this country is and always will be its prosperity. The present administration stands squarely on that issue. Its every policy and doctrine is directed toward creating and maintaining prosperity in the nation's industry, commerce and agriculture and in reflecting that prosperity in the home of the individual citizen. To attempt to turn from this issue is futile, for

MRS. BRENNAN LAUDS HER HUSBAND'S COURAGE

Liberties Hinge on Proper Solution of Dry Question, She Tells Crowd.

NOMINEE STILL IN BED

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Declaring her belief that "the preservation of the liberties that are left to the American people depend in the proper solution of the prohibition question," Mrs. George E. Brennan, wife of the Democratic nominee for the United States Senate on a wet platform advocated her husband's election here tonight. It was Mrs. Brennan's first political appearance since she announced that she would stump the State to help her husband's campaign. She was forced into activity by an injury to his knee recently. Brennan is directing his campaign from a Chicago hospital.

Mrs. Brennan said she believed "party lines will be shattered while thousands will vote for my husband, as a protest against conditions and because of his courage in taking a stand on the principal issue of this campaign."

Thomas F. Donovan, of Joliet, the Democratic chairman, read a message on farm relief prepared by Mr. Brennan, which attacked the Coolidge administration farm program.

The message said that reports of prosperity for the farm emanating from Washington are "press agent stuff" written by a man kept on the payroll in Washington to write it and create the impression that the farmer really is in the wrong and that in asking for governmental cooperation he has no real basis upon which to found his request.

THE NEW YORK CAMPAIGN.

New York squares away for the campaign of 1926, with a weather eye on 1928. The Democrats nominate "Al" Smith for governor, and the Republicans nominate Representative Ogden Mills. Gov. Smith has served three terms and is popularly regarded as invincible, especially this year, since Democrats are counting upon an extraordinary vote in his favor as a prelude to the presidential race. Representative Mills made a fine keynote speech at the opening of the Republican convention, and is perhaps the best choice for governor that the Republicans could have made.

If the fight were solely over the governorship, the New York situation would not have much further interest to the country at large; but there are other considerations. The Republicans are counting upon the reelection of Senator Wadsworth. As Republican strength in the Senate is ebbing, the New York contest becomes extremely important.

In view of the trend of sentiment away from the world court, many Democrats in New York have counseled silence in their platform, leaving Senator Wadsworth, who supported cloture and the court, to bear the brunt of the thing; but Gov. Smith was unaccountably stubborn in insisting that a plank should be inserted in the Democratic platform indorsing the world court. The result was a compromise which, by skillful use of the word "if," means very little indeed. The Democratic platform prejudices the referendum on the liquor question by declaring that the majority of the people of New York State are not in sympathy with the Volstead act. That remains to be proved.

The Republican platform does its best to straddle the liquor question. It solemnly declares that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are law and should be enforced, but that the people are alarmed over the lack of enforcement of the law, and that this having led to the referendum on the question of modifying the interpretation of the law, "we urge a full expression at the polls on this matter."

The Herkimer county delegation promptly rebelled against this straddle, and reserved indorsement of Senator Wadsworth. But in the main the wet and dry Republicans of New York State are trying to stand upon this plank, and so far as the governorship is concerned the question may not split the party.

Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner is named by the Democrats as opponent of Senator Wadsworth. He is a strong figure. If New York is to change its senators, the New York jurist will soon take a prominent place in the Senate, although he would have to undergo a lengthy apprenticeship before gaining the influential position which Senator Wadsworth holds.

OUTLYING PARKS.

Members of the Arlington County Civic federation, the Montgomery County Civic federation and the Federation of Citizens Associations of the District of Columbia met recently and discussed the question of park and boulevard development. A resolution was adopted suggesting that the cost of such projects should be assumed entirely by the Federal government.

What weight this recommendation will have is problematical. The question is open to debate. A large proportion of Washington's tax dollar is spent for the purchase, construction and maintenance of parks and boulevards. It is generally admitted that the proportion is far larger in the District than in other communities of similar size throughout the country. Proposed park land is mounting in value every day. Tax rates are high, and unless an equitable policy in this regard is adopted, taxes will go still higher. It is obvious that the local taxpayers can not bear the expense of developing the nation's city on the scale that is contemplated.

Parks and boulevards outside of the District, designed as part of the embellishment of the National Capital, are properly chargeable to the national government.

FIGHTING FRAUD.

In a notable address before the National Association of Security Commissioners, Senator Moses offered suggestions for the expansion and improvement of the fight against security frauds. He urged greater uniformity in the laws of the different States, closer cooperation between enforcement agencies and business, and more effective work by the Post-office Department in the suppression of mail frauds.

Senator Moses asserted that the inconsistencies of State laws were a grave handicap to the commissioners in their work, and urged a standardization of rules and laws regulating the issue of securities. He added that closer cooperation between enforcement agencies and business had brought about a higher standard of business ethics. Business has reformed itself by organizing many "better business bureaus." The greatest measure of protection against security fraud, he said, must come through the safeguarding of the mails against fraudulent circulars. He favors further legislation for the protection of the public and the prevention of postal frauds. As chairman of the postal committee, Senator Moses is in a position to take the lead in pressing for such legislation.

THE BANDITS' GUNS.

Several dangerous criminals and their associates, supposed to constitute a gang of bandits, have been apprehended by the Washington police. These prisoners are residents of Washington. Two of the men when arrested shot two police officers.

Where did the prisoners get the deadly weapons they carried?

Is Maj. Hesse investigating this phase of the bandit situation? Or does he take it as a matter of course that bandits should have no difficulty whatever in arming themselves?

The acquisition of firearms by irresponsible characters is entirely too easy in this town. If the District commissioners do not already possess authority to supervise the disposition of deadly weapons they should ask Congress for such authority.

Every one who breaks into a house and is found with a deadly weapon on his person should be regarded by law as a murderer, and punishment should be provided to fit the crime. Every holdup man who uses a gun should, if captured, be given the punishment meted out to murderers.

The police department ought to have a record of every deadly weapon in this District, the name of the seller and the buyer. Permits for the carrying of weapons should be cautiously issued, and then only to responsible citizens. The law should make it a serious crime to carry a deadly weapon without a permit.

GREAT OLD GOLFERS.

So evanescent are the triumphs of sport, and so short the public memory, that there are few who recall the thrill felt by golfers everywhere when, barely 21 years ago, the great international foursome was played, with H. Vardon and J. H. Taylor representing England and J. Braid and A. Herd doing duty for Scotland.

That was a gorgeous and gorgeously staged affair, for it was played over four different greens, namely, St. Andrews, Troon, St. Anne's, and Deal, and it was contested by the four greatest masters of the game then living. Herd was a deft juggler with the ball, Taylor was unexcelled as a "coverer of the pin," Braid had no equal as a "tearer" of the sphere, and Vardon was possibly the most supreme artist that the game of golf at any of its stages has ever seen. The paeans of joy that went up all over England when the English champions won must have been heard in order to realize their volume and intensity.

Two trite sayings, "There is life in the old dog yet" and "History repeats itself," found apt illustration when these same four men met together at St. Albans the other day and fought over again the battle they engaged in in 1905. It might have been a pathetic sight, for their average age is more than 55, and golf in the interim has become more and more a young man's game; but, instead, it was inspiring in the extreme, as the veterans, in the famous phrase of King Henry V, plainly showed the mettle of their pasture and covered themselves with honors. The English pair won once more, but the losers were not disgraced, Braid, in particular, giving a glorious display of long and furious drives. The race is not always to the swift, and the golf crown has not yet passed entirely into the possession of the younger generation.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

The educational systems of the States which stop halfway in the teaching of children have been criticized from time to time by thoughtful men. In view of the fact that only about 5 per cent of the students of the graded schools graduate into institutions of higher learning, the system which turns the other 95 per cent out into the world with no training in any useful trade or calling is wholly wrong.

In a communication to The Post some months ago Mr. Merritt Hale, who has been connected with the schools of New York State for more than a quarter of a century, pointed out that the correctional and penal institutions of that State are today housing some 50,000 boys and girls under the age of 21 who were committed to the prisons and reformatories, as Mr. Hale believes, largely on account of the half-baked character of the education furnished by the State. He believes that the authorities should go much further in the training of the young people, and that each should be trained in the direction of self-support; that it would be far more economical for the Commonwealth to teach the youth how to earn a living than it is to support them in idleness after they have violated the laws.

Now comes Charles R. Allen, educational consultant of the Federal board of vocational education, who expresses the opinion that "when a child reaches the point where he or she can no longer profit by the training received in school that child should drop out of the organized school system and find an interesting and remunerative field of employment."

Mr. Allen believes that after pupils reach the age of 14 they should not be forced to continue the ordinary school courses, but should be given the privilege of choosing to prepare for college or high school, or to fit themselves for trades. The expert of the vocational board has reached a conclusion very similar to that of Mr. Hale.

The subject is one which should have the serious consideration of boards of education, as affecting the future of millions of American children.

THE PRICE OF SILVER.

How close the relationship of each country of the world is with every other, from a commercial standpoint, is illustrated in the effect of the suspension of one banking institution. Before 1914 the Russo-Asiatic bank was one of the greatest banking institutions of the East. Its business ramifications extended through eastern Europe and throughout China. The constant turmoil which has vexed the "Flowery Kingdom" doubtless had much to do with the bank's suspension. But whatever the cause, the effect was marked and rapid. Last week the Federal Reserve Board noted a steady decline in the price of bar silver, which fell from 60 1/2 cents per ounce early in the week to 59 1/4 on Saturday. There has been a further decline of 1 1/2 cents this week.

This fall in the value of silver was at once reflected in the exchange value of the current coinage of the East, Mexican dollars, Hongkong taels and Indian rupees dropping in the exchanges correspondingly. Of course that means that all countries doing business with India, China and the Far East generally find their affairs disarranged, for in these days when great commercial transactions are carried on by cable the fluctuations in value of the currency of one of the countries affected has an immediate bearing on the business relations of the others.

The falling off of practically 3 cents in the value of an ounce of silver, unless the loss is soon recovered, will have an important effect upon mining operations in this country, as well as in Canada and Mexico, which will be reflected in the market quotations on the shares of silver mining countries in every exchange and bourse throughout the world.

As usual the silver producers are looking to England to sustain the silver market. Failure to do this would seriously depress business in India, for, according to Hamilton M. Brush, vice president of the American Smelting and Refining Co., "any action by India which would reduce the price of silver by 10 or 20 per cent would take a tremendous slice from the national wealth of the empire and be more harmful to the Indian people than to any others."

THE TOURIST CAMP.

There is something to be said on both sides of the proposal to locate an additional tourist camp in a seven-acre site between Wisconsin avenue and Massachusetts avenue extended. The fact that 70 per cent of the tourists enter Washington from the northwest makes the choice a logical one. On the other hand, location of this camp should be permanent, and if there is reason to believe that the site selected will have to be turned over to other uses at an early date, another place should be chosen. The camp should, of course, be located on the outskirts of the city. Not only is there little excuse for utilization of high priced central land for this purpose, but there is no reason why this traffic should enter the congested zone.

No doubt the special committee of the office of public buildings and public parks charged with the selection of a tourist camp site has given the matter serious thought. The question should be settled with a view to the future and not merely to relieve present traffic conditions.

A WASTED FORTUNE.

The short space of five years has been sufficient to witness the entire dissipation of the $1,674,000 gift of Charles Garland to the "American Fund for Public Service." At the time this money was set aside young Garland expressed the wish that it should be disposed of in the shortest possible time. Those in charge of its administration seem to have been very diligent in complying with that suggestion.

This large sum was inherited by Garland from the estate of his father. Originally the total was a trifle less than $1,000,000, but increased value of New York city bank stocks owned by the elder Garland swelled the total. When young Garland refused to accept his share of the estate for his personal use because he disapproved "of the manner in which his father had acquired" his fortune, he became the leading "eccentric" in the United States, but steadfastly declined to touch a dollar of the "tainted" money.

Living in comparative poverty, the donor of this money has seen it expended in exploiting ideas and supporting causes that could not meet the approval of a board of trustees composed of hard-headed business men. Had this money been invested in stable securities its income would have been sufficient to do much charitable and educational work for long years to come. Given outright, as it was, young Garland's patrimony has been merely wasted.

Before the poachers of Japan and the Pacific coast ports with their pelagic operations had depleted the source of the sealskin coat supply the pelt of the lowly muskrat brought only a jitney in country stores. But enterprising furriers have produced "Hudson seal" from the skin of the rat, and that amphibious animal is now in the aristocracy that embraces the otter and the beaver as well as the mink and the skunk. Since the discovery that the fur of the water rat can be converted into fashionable furs his skin has grown constantly in value. Today it has reached the highest figure ever known.

Washington mourns the death of Leo W. K. Busch, police patrolman attached to the Tenth precinct, who was shot by bandits early Sunday morning. Busch and a fellow police officer, Frank Ach, made a gallant fight against their assailants. Ach, although badly wounded, is expected to recover. The assassination of Leo Busch is a challenge to every policeman in Washington. Hereafter, when a bullet snuffs out human life in this city, let it be the life of a bandit.

"The great achievement of science is artificial sleep." And yet at times a lucky punch will do it.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

My wife and the two younger Hopefuls are with me now, and naturally I have to dig up some children stories to pull on them. Here is one that I think is a Pip.

A Sunday School Teacher was showing her class through one of the wonderful big London Museums and there was a marvelous painting of the Old Colosseum in Rome. It showed the Lions devouring the Christians. Everybody was very impressed as she was explaining it. One little girl was heard to be sobbing and the Teacher turned to her. "Ah! the poor little thing; it is breaking her heart! Those terrible old people in those days doing things like that! Never mind, dear, that's all over now, and those naughty people who had it done have all been punished. So don't cry for the poor Christians any more."

"Oh! But look at that," said the little girl, pointing her finger. "That poor Lion-out there hasn't got a Christian."

PRESS COMMENT.

Everybody Present.
Milwaukee Journal: It looks as if the Hall-Mills murder was pulled off during a town meeting.

Another Debt Tip.
Cincinnati Enquirer: France might take a tip from the Sesqui and conduct a couple of big prize fights to raise the money to pay off her debt.

The Outcast.
Detroit News: That evasive fellow, who is now wearing false whiskers and dark glasses and walking through alleys, is what is known as a Sport Expert.

The Subtle French.
Portland Oregonian: The French are more subtle about it than the Central American republics. Instead of proclaiming a revolution they merely call it a new cabinet.

A Big Order.
New York Evening Post: Mr. Buckner says he will not quit his job of making New York dry until his work is finished. Some men have a passion for dying in the harness.

Warning.
San Antonio News: Secretary Mellon says that Uncle Sam is the most lenient creditor—but it isn't advisable to fall back upon that statement when the income tax comes due.

The Jinxed Prince.
Atchison Daily Globe: His highness, the Prince of Wales, is a jinxed horseman; he sprained his thumb playing golf, and is unlucky at cards. Perhaps it's just as well he never tried marriage.

Our Resourceful Army.
New York Sun: The army is going to save $10,000 by cutting down the butchers' coats left over from the war and making jackets for cooks. A woman would have thought of that in 8 seconds; it took the government eight years.

Expressing a Hope.
Philadelphia Record: Los Angeles, fortunately, is at the other side of this (in one sense) broad country, but the arm of the telegraph is long. Our one hope is that the obnoxious McPherson case will be speedily disposed of and be given permanent burial.

Keynoters Weep.
New York World: Shortly after noon yesterday in the new Madison Square Garden Mr. Mills wept a few tears over the divided and helpless condition of the national Democratic party; and at 9 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt, at Syracuse, wept a few tears over the divided and helpless condition of the New York Republican party. It is thus evident that a political campaign has begun.

Needs No Answer.
Indianapolis News: After the tumult and the shouting died in the Sesquiennial stadium there was Little Peterkin wanting to know, as usual, what good came of it.

A little later on when the collections and tabulations are made, perhaps the Federal revenue bureau can tell him. The Sesquiennial management might give an even prompter answer.

What the Farmer Wants.
Slayton (Minn.) Herald: From now until election the farmer will have more friends than he can count, and he will be assailed with train-loads of advice. Men who never milked a cow will discourse learnedly on diversified farming, candidates who think gooseberries are eggs will tell the farmer how to save himself from his troubles.

The Lonely

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

THE boy of sixteen complains that his parents do not understand him. It is true that they do not. Nobody understands him. He is a unique product. Chance, a thousand influences and many thousand ancestors have combined to make him the peculiar creature he is. He stands aloof from the world, like the Corsican, "grand, gloomy and peculiar."

He is alone in the world and distinctly aware of being alone. He is in an alien country, among people who do not speak his language or think his thoughts or experience his emotions.

It is not the sudden development of his ego that makes him aware of being peculiar. It is the discovery of a sad truth. He does not understand people. He never will understand them—even his best friend—not even his wife—not even his children.

As the years pass he will contrive to adjust himself to the universe, but this does not mean that he will make himself understood or learn to understand. It means only that he will reconcile himself to living within himself and learn to be content with conditions that he can not control or remedy.

To complain of being lonely is to complain of the common fate of man. In no language under heaven are there words by means of which one individual can express his exact thought to another and make the other understand. There are degrees and shades of feeling, of longings, of idealism, too fine for such crude vehicles as words to convey. And if there were words delicate enough to comprehend these things, it is not probable that the minds of any two people are sufficiently alike to attach the same meaning to the words.

For all our boasted intelligence we are dumb creatures, communicating with one another by sounds, only more refined than grunts. And while the poverty of our language and the vagueness of our understanding keeps us strangers to one another, each must dwell alone, and fear of the unknown must continue as chief of the motives that shape our lives.

THE GOLDEN TIDE.

The most striking business fact in the country today, according to the Cleveland Times, is its vast volume of credit. That means much, in cause and effect.

Besides all the billions in gold piled up in American Treasury and bank vaults since the war, there is a golden tide rolling in. A financial observer says we receive $1,000,000,000 a year from abroad, to pay principal and interest on foreign loans, public and private. Along with this, there is a big excess of current income at home.

Both of these great funds are calling for new employment. Money has to be put to work. Not long ago Americans were reinvesting a great deal of the national income abroad. But now, with foreign affairs so uncertain, and with more money than ever available for investment, cautious Americans are afraid to send it abroad. So the big, growing surplus is being reinvested at home.

That, doubtless, is one of the important factors in the new rise of American securities.

STEALING TIME.

As a time saving device, says the Milwaukee Journal, this "Wait a minute, please" that so often comes over the telephone isn't all that should be desired. If there is a saving at one end of the line it is at the expense of some one else at the other. Bill Jones, one of the busy men of the town, wants to communicate with John Smith. So Bill passes the word out to his clerk or stenographer, "Get Smith on the line for me." Smith's phone rings and he breaks off from his own work to answer, only to hear that sweet feminine voice telling him to please contribute his own time while she gets her employer on the wire again. In due time the connection is made and Jones says his say. In making a call that was of his own initiative, he has saved 30 seconds by the simple expedient of making Smith lose half a minute. "On the line" is right, for the fellow who is at the hooked end of it feels fully the part of a successful fish.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Buying Firearms.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Among the lessons to be learned from the shoot-up of last Sunday there is one which I would especially emphasize, namely, the laxity of law in regard to the buying and carrying of revolvers.

It is all too easy for weaklings and criminals to buy deadly weapons. It should be impossible for a man to purchase seven guns seven consecutive times in this city.

ALBEE H. ZIMMERMAN.
Washington, Sept. 28.

Refrigerated Clothes.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: C. K. P., on September 23, writes of Prof. Edw. F. Miller's millennial dream of houses cooled by an electrical refrigeration system, and suggests the possibility of clothing cooled the same way.

Perhaps C. K. P. has not kept pace with the advances made in the industry of electrical refrigeration. Refrigerated houses for dwelling purposes have been in existence for nearly 20 years, and it is not at all difficult nor novel to so equip a house, providing the house is properly built for the purpose. And the system is entirely automatic and electrically controlled by a thermostat the same as a furnace.

As for refrigerated clothing, there are available many gases which would do the trick, providing the clothing is properly constructed, so there seems to be nothing new in this.

E. S. LAPE.
Washington, Sept. 25.

Bread and Water.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is scarcely to be supposed that when that Nebraska Judge sentenced bootleggers to "ten days bread and water" he intended to establish a cult. Yet he decided to try his own medicine upon himself, and thereby obtained more publicity for his official action than would have been achieved by any other means. Their ability to disfigure and water diet is spreading like the Japanese beetle. Two of the assistants to the Attorney General, Howard T. Jones and Arthur W. Henderson, have sentenced themselves to two weeks on the same rations. But as they imposed those sentences upon themselves immediately after a hearty luncheon, the result of this latest dietary experiment is not likely to add much to the sum of human knowledge in the matter of the ability of man to go without food. Dr. Tanner is said to have lived for 40 days on water alone, and Mrs. Pankhurst erstwhile leader of the British suffragets, had something of a record as a faster.

Some people get into first page stories through the consumption of fame through their ability to disfigure a 10-pound beefsteak, and still others have devoted hours of industrious effort to the task of packing pies in their "bread-baskets." There was once a brewer across the Aqueduct bridge who drank "an eighth" of beer every morning before breakfast—but that is ancient history. It is to be hoped that the Nebraska Judge and the Washington attorneys will be able to settle the problem as to the cruelty or noncruelty of the ten-days sentence on bread and water, because bootleggers are becoming anxious.

is curbed this new way of solving oldest hygienic problem; gives true protection—discards like tissue

THERE is a new way in women's hygiene that ends the insecurity of old-time "sanitary pads" and their unhappy days.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Proves old way a needless risk. 12 in a package. In fairness to yourself, try it.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

THE Secretary of State, Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, will be joined this morning by Mrs. Kellogg, who is coming from their home in St. Paul, Minn., where she has been passing the month.

The Secretary of War, Mr. Dwight F. Davis, will return today from Dark Harbor, Maine, accompanied by his children.

Senor Don Alejandro Padilla, newly appointed Ambassador of Spain, with Mrs. Padilla and their daughters, who landed in New York yesterday on the Manuel Arana, will visit the Sesqui-centennial exposition in Philadelphia and will be the guests of the former American Minister at Lisbon, Col. Thomas H. Birch, and Mrs. Birch for a short time at their summer home at Monmouth Beach, N. J., before coming to Washington later in the week. The Ambassador and his family were met in New York by Senor Don Mariano de Amodeo, charge d'affaires ad interim of the embassy, and Senor Don Pedro de Soto, attaché of the embassy.

The Minister of Greece, Mr. Charalambos Simopoulos, and Mrs. Simopoulos will return Monday from Nantucket, Mass., where they have been established for the summer.

The Minister of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, Dr. Ante Trosich Pavlichich, has returned from New York, where he went last week to present Mr. Nicola Tesla, the scientist, with the order of St. Salva and also to meet the delegates from Serbia to the first Pan-American Conference of National Directors of Public Health.

Dinner for Delegates.

The Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Jaimes Freyre will entertain at dinner this evening in their apartment at the Wardman Park hotel in honor of the delegates to the Pan-American Conference of National Directors of Public Health and their wives and families. There will be 12 guests, including the staff of the delegation. They later will attend the reception at the Pan-American Union to be given by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg.

The new Minister of Siam, Lieut. Gen. Phya Vajitavongs, arrived in Washington Monday night, accompanied by his small son and daughter, and has taken up his residence at the Siamese legation house, 2300 Kalorama road northwest.

He will call on President Coolidge and the Secretary of State sometime in the next few days. Gen. Vajitavongs has been detached from the army to assume the post of Minister to this country. He was educated in Europe, and speaks French and English fluently. His wife will join him here later.

The Minister of Haiti, Mr. Hannibal Price, will deliver an address at the Siamese legation house, 2300 Kalorama road northwest, on Monday, October 11, at Pulaski square before the monument of Count Pulaski, who died after the battle of Savannah. The address will feature the service of the Haitian natives who fought this battle in favor of American liberty.

The Minister of Poland, Mr. Jan Ciechanowski, departed yesterday for New York and will return Friday.

The charge d'affaires of France, Count de Sartiges, who went to New York last week, has returned.

The charge d'affaires of Roumania, Mr. Radu T. Djuvara, will return Friday from New York, where he has been passing several days.

The attaché of the Roumanian legation, Mr. D. Dimancesco, departed last evening for New York, where he will pass a week or ten days at the Ambassador.

Mrs. Lloyd Hostess.

Mrs. Bolivar J. Lloyd, wife of the assistant director of the Pan-American sanitary bureau, entertained at luncheon yesterday at her residence at 2736 Kanawha street, Chevy Chase, in honor of the women accompanying the delegates to the Pan-American Conference of National Directors of Public Health. There were 24 guests. Invited to meet the women were Mrs. Hugh S. Cumming, wife of the surgeon general of the public health service; Mrs. Alfaro, wife of the Minister of Panama; the Misses Grisanti, daughters of the Minister of Venezuela; Mrs. Ramirez, wife of the charge d'affaires of Panama; Mrs. Barberis, mother of the charge d'affaires of Ecuador; Mrs. Gil Borges, wife of the vice director of the Pan-American union; Mrs. William C. Gorgas, Mrs. William Charles White and Miss Laura Carter.

The surgeon general, Mr. Hugh S. Cumming, entertained the delegates to the conference last evening at dinner at the Cosmos club.

Dr. S. Lorenti, the director of public health of Peru, and Senor Lorenti were the guests in whose honor Dr. Santiago F. Bedoya, the secretary of the Peruvian embassy, and Senora de Bedoya entertained at luncheon on Monday at the Wardman Park hotel.

Miss Margaret B. McAdoo, of New Orleans, will arrive Friday to be the guest of Miss Margaret Howard Kerr at the Dresden.

The United States Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. Jacob Gould Schurman, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Barbara Schurman, have arrived from New York. They landed from Europe last week and are here on a vacation.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Guy H. Burrage and their daughter, Miss Charlotte Burrage, will arrive Friday from Contocook, N. H., where they have been passing the summer.

Mission Members Guests.

Mr. A. J. Pack, commercial secretary of the British embassy, entertained at dinner Monday evening in the presidential dining room of the Mayflower in compliment to Sir William Mackenzie, Mr. Haig Mitchell and Mr. F. Leggett, members of the British mission to the United States on industrial relations. His other guests were Sir Maurice Low and Mr. Leander McCormick Goodrich, the new secretary of the British embassy.

Lieut. and Mrs. B. W. Shumaker and their son, after passing ten days with the former's sister, Mrs. C. E. Hickerson, of Bayard, W. Va., will sail today on the Chamont from Annapolis, Md., to the Asiatic station where Lieut. Shumaker has been assigned to duty.

Miss Peggy Wilson, of Baltimore, has been the guest of Miss Rebecca Davidson, daughter of Mrs. John C. Davidson, at their country place in Virginia.

The wedding of Miss Mary Ord Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ord Preston, to Mr. Linton Reynolds Massey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Massey, took place at 4:30 o'clock yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, 1822 R street. The Rev. Robert Johnston, of St. John's church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, the skirt of which was embroidered in pearls. The bride's lace veil had been worn by her great-grandmother. She carried a bouquet of yellow lilies and lilies of the valley. Miss Eleanor Preston was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a bouffant gown of sea green satin, trimmed with lavender flowers, and finished with a large lavender bow at one side. Her bouquet was of lavender flowers.

Mr. John Christian was best man, and Mr. Phillip Williams, usher. A reception followed the ceremony. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Massey departed for a trip, the latter wearing a blue one-piece dress with a small, black hat and a silver fox neck piece. Upon their return they will be at home at 2100 Massachusetts avenue.

Return From Summer Home.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Guider and their little daughter are motoring from home—summer home—Three Acres, at Bethlehem, N. H., and will arrive today. They will reopen their apartment at 2222 Q street for the winter.

Mr. Tracy Dows has returned from Rhinebeck, N. Y., and with his daughter, Miss Deborah Dows, is at the Mayflower. Mrs. Dows, who is now in Europe, will return about the middle of October, when they will open their new home on O street in Georgetown. Miss Deborah Dows will attend Holton Arms school.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush-Brown have returned after passing the summer on their farm in Pennsylvania. They have resumed their Wednesday afternoon 5 o'clock teas in their studios.

Mrs. John Simmonds, Miss Pauline Long and Miss Olive Chase were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given Monday evening at the home of Miss Chase in Chevy Chase, Md., in honor of Miss Marjorie Chase, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Bell Robson, of Baltimore, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian church. After a program of "stunts," including a mock wedding, a buffet supper was served. Recitations by Miss Margaret Higgins and dancing concluded the entertainment.

Among those present were Miss Ruth Shoemaker, Miss May Shoemaker, Miss Ivy Bruce, Miss Violet Bruce, Miss Margaret Higgins, Mrs. Roberta Cleton, Miss Anna B. Fenton, Miss Della I. Hillan, Mrs. Maybel Ann Felton, Mrs. Joseph Helm, Miss Lois Moomaw, Miss Lillian M. Cook, Mrs. O. L. Cumberland, Mrs. Christine D. Shope, Miss Alida A. Baker, Miss Sarah H. Pones, Miss Beatie O. Reed, Mrs. Lillian Stamm, Miss Esther G. Struthers and Miss Gladys M. Sanderson.

Miss Crowley to Be Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Louis Crowley have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Esther Mary Crowley, to Mr. Patrick Joseph Clancy, on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Franciscan monastery. Miss Sylvia Crowley will be maid of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids.

"WHITE ROSE BREAD retains its moisture in a manner truly unusual," says one domestic science teacher who tested this loaf. "There is practically no change from the second to the seventh day," declares another.

Every housewife knows that a loaf rich in milk and shortening stays fresh longer. White Rose

Bread is made with plenty of the finest shortening it is possible to buy—with almost twice as much milk as the ordinary recipe calls for.

White Rose Bread not only stays fresh longer, but it comes to you fresh. It is baked twice each day and rushed to your grocer after each baking. Corby's Bakery, Continental Baking Company.

Kalorama Body Wants New Detention Home; Would Revise Court Rules.

Playgrounds which would provide children confined in apartment houses with a place to play, were requested by the Iowa Circle Citizens association at a meeting last night in the Northminster Presbyterian church, Eleventh street and Rhode Island avenue northwest.

The necessity of recreational facilities for children so confined, was stressed in a resolution submitted by M. A. Robbins, and passed by the association, requesting that more playgrounds be provided, and that the playgrounds be under the supervision of the municipal government.

M. E. Salsbury, secretary of the Midcity Citizens association, was present and spoke in favor of the midcity market site. The association, however, deferred action, referring the question to a special committee for report at the next meeting. The special committee is M. A. Robbins, H. M. Fulton and F. M. Thompson.

The association voted to ask traffic authorities why traffic signs prohibiting the travel of heavy trucks on Rhode Island avenue were moved. These heavy trucks are jarring the plaster loose in buildings abutting the avenue. It was charged.

Mr. Robbins submitted a resolution favoring the midcity market site for the District instead of three. In face of objections, the motion was revised, and the association voted instead to indorse the commission form of government.

Mrs. Ella M. Thompson presided.

Want Detention House.
The Kalorama Citizens association meeting last night in the Parish hall of St. Margaret's church, Connecticut avenue and Bancroft streets, went on record in favor of a new house of detention for women, to be housed under the same roof with other corrective institutions of the city.

Action was taken following a report by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, chairman of the committee on charities and corrections, in which she criticized the condition of the present house of detention as insanitary. She pointed out in her recommendation that the present house of detention would probably be removed any way as it occupies part of the site being considered for the new Department of Commerce building. Mrs. Wiley also attacked the antiquated rules under which the juvenile court functions and recommended that the rules be amended and brought up to date. She said that the court now functioned under regulations adopted years ago and were inadequate for present needs.

Delay Market Vote.
A resolution offered by James W. Murphy proposing that the association indorse the midcity market site was referred to the committee on waterways, parks and highways for study and recommendations to be submitted at the next meeting. The committee is headed by Henry C. Morris.

In urging the adoption of the midcity site, Mr. Murphy pointed out that it was the most desirable site for the new farmers' produce market because of its central location, ample street car service, automobile parking facilities and accessibility for the farmers.

Mr. Murphy also recommended doing away with the intangible personal property tax in the District, and that recommendation also was referred to a committee for study.

Commissioner and Mrs. Proctor L. Daugherty were guests of the association. The commissioner outlined the program of work before the commissioners this winter, and urged the association to take an active part in all public matters so that the District heads might be kept informed as to the wishes of the District public on civic measures. Traffic Director M. O. Eldridge attended the meeting.

G. F. Mitchell, president of the association, presided.

M. S. R. Moler Named Sheriff.

Charles Town, W. Va., Sept. 28. The Democratic county committee for Jefferson county today named M. S. R. Moler, of Shepherdstown, candidate for sheriff to succeed his brother, the late J. Strider Moler, who died last week. The county court then appointed Mr. Moler for the remaining three months of his brother's term.

resembling his mother had been injured. Police did not know of the death until yesterday when a two hours Paul Cromelin started to visit the hospital. He called Garfield on the telephone and learned of his mother's death.

Another woman was injured, probably mortally, yesterday when she was struck by an automobile in M street near Thirty-first street northwest. She is Mrs. Mary Coit, 73 years old, 3241 N street northwest. She is in Emergency hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, cuts on the scalp and other injuries.

Police of the Seventh precinct are holding Hugh Gannell, 28 years old, of Vienna, Va., said to be the driver of the automobile which struck Mrs. Coit, on charges of leaving the scene of the accident, reckless driving and driving without a permit. Gannell was arrested near the Key Bridge by Charles A. Whalen, jr., a Fairfax county policeman.

Thomas F. Myers, of 3607 M street northwest, suffered serious injuries last night when he was pinned by a skidding automobile against the window of a store near the corner of Thirty-fourth and M streets.

The automobile, driven by Policeman Marcel Caussin, was bound for the hospital with Edward Cook, colored, 1237 Twenty-eighth street northwest, who had received knife wounds in a fight at 3130 South street northwest. The approach of a street car caused the machine to leap the curb, striking Myers. He is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, broken leg and cuts.

Coolidge to Learn

Of Court Congestion

Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court and the nine Federal circuit court judges of the country, who are conferring over means for remedying the congestion in court dockets, will make a formal call upon President Coolidge today. The conference of judges again yesterday took up the snowed-under condition of the courts and heard Attorney General Sargent and his deputies, Marshal and Donovan. It is regarded as probable that the conference will agree on some recommendations to be made to Congress in the hope of enabling the courts to catch up with the tremendous amount of litigation which has cluttered up the dockets. More judges, it is said, will be asked for.

PARLEY APPROVES PAN-AMERICAN CODE TO CHECK DISEASE

Health Directors Create Committee to Work for Adoption of International Rules.

REGULATIONS RATIFIED BY SEVEN GOVERNMENTS

Provisions Would Call for Reports on All Plagues and Epidemics.

Increasing interest in progressive health measures in the Pan-American republics was revealed in the reports of the health directors of those countries read yesterday afternoon on the second day of the first Pan-American conference of national directors of public health, in session at the Pan-American Union building.

Rules adopted yesterday provided for the appointment of committees on the Pan-American sanitary code, administration of public health and sanitation and permanent organization.

The committee on the Pan-American sanitary code, one of the most important groups of the conference, was instructed to begin immediately the work of preparing a report on the provisions of the code with a view to placing those provisions into effect in the countries that have ratified it. The United States is one of the seven nations that already have ratified the code, and it is the purpose of this conference to have the code adopted by all of the remaining fourteen Latin-American republics.

Provisions of Code.
The code provides sanitary regulations designed to check the spread of infectious diseases among the Pan-American nations. With this aim in view the code requires the classification of ports based on their prevailing health conditions and the interchange of mortality statistics. A rule makes it mandatory for all parties to the code to report immediately all plagues, epidemics and diseases, so that proper quarantine measures may be put into effect for protection of the other nations.

The Pan American sanitary bureau, headed by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, chief of the public health service in the United States, will be responsible for the enforcing of the provisions of the code. The surgeon general was elected permanent chairman of the conference on Monday. Public health directors attending the conference have no authority from their countries to accept the code, but they will carry back recommendations to the future acceptance of it. The code will be submitted to the Pan-American nations for acceptance or rejection of the eighth Pan-American sanitary conference, which will meet in Lima, Peru, in October, 1927.

Conference to Close Today.

The delegates to the conference manifested great interest in the work being done by the hygienic laboratory of the United States public health service, which they visited yesterday morning. A dinner in their honor was given last night at the Cosmos club by Surgeon General Cumming.

Their sessions will come to a formal close today with business sessions both morning and afternoon. An interesting feature of the day's program will be the foundation and dedication of the library of the Pan-American sanitary bureau, whose headquarters are at the Pan-American union.

There will be a luncheon in honor of the delegates by the governing board of the Pan-American Union and in the evening a reception by Secretary of State Kellogg.

The delegates will remain during the rest of the week to attend the sessions of the International Union Against Tuberculosis. They will be received at the White House tomorrow afternoon by the President and Mrs. Coolidge, and next Sunday they will go to Philadelphia to visit the Sesqui-centennial and to inspect especially the government's public health exhibit there.

Ford Wants Gift Car Returned by "Baron"

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 18 (By A. P.).—When Henry Ford presents an automobile to a "baron" he wants that person to be a "real baron" and not an impostor.

It was learned tonight that Mr. Ford, through a secretary, has written to the courts of this State, asking what may be done in his favor concerning the restoration, or the equivalent cash value, of the touring car that he presented to "Baron G. Frederick E. von Krupp, jr."

George R. Gabor, who posed as the "baron," now is at the Newcastle county workhouse, awaiting trial on charges of passing worthless checks while a guest at a hotel in this city last July.

NO DISEASE IS SURE DEATH, SAYS HAIGHT

Organic Ills Cured by Faith, Declares Nazarene Society Group.

There is no such thing as an incurable disease.

That was the conclusion yesterday of the Rev. J. McV. Haight, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., who presented a paper, "The Priest's Attitude Toward Incurables," at the convention of the Society of the Nazarene in Trinity Diocesan church, Third and C streets northwest.

A group of the 150 delegates discussing the paper reported that the charge that only nervous diseases are cured by faith is erroneous, testimony being cited where organic diseases had been cured by faith. It was said nervous diseases are the least responsive to healing by faith. Another paper was "Spiritual Preparation for Healing Work," by the Rev. Elbert B. Holmes, of Natick, Mass. The special business meeting of the convention will be held this morning. A service for children will be held at 5 p. m. today.

TAYLOR SERVICES TODAY.

Widow of Pastor to Be Buried in Harmony Cemetery.

Services for Mrs. Annie E. Taylor, widow of the Rev. J. Anderson Taylor, who died in Glendale, Md., Sunday, will be held in Trinity Baptist church, Thirteenth and Corcoran streets northwest, today at 1 p. m.

She was born in Richmond in 1853, but in 1891 came to this city, where Dr. Taylor for more than a quarter century was pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church. She is survived by six sons, John A. Taylor, Harvey U. Taylor, Arthur C. Taylor, Joseph A. Taylor, Robert B. Taylor and David Eugene Taylor, and two daughters, Mrs. Julia T. Nickens and Mrs. Annie Hawkins. Interment will be in Harmony cemetery.

GUSTAV GLOCKMAN DEAD.

Veteran Had Served in Marine Corps and Army.

Gustav Glockman, who served four enlistments in the marine corps and two in the army, died at his residence, 746 Ninth street southeast, yesterday.

Mr. Glockman, who was first sergeant of the marine detachment on the U. S. S. Bancroft in the Spanish war, was born at Madgeburg, Germany, in 1852, and first enlisted in 1875, being retired in 1905.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Friday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, and burial will be in Arlington National cemetery.

J. E. Kipp Dead.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—J. E. Kipp, fourth vice president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, member during the war of the United States railway administration board of adjustment and former manager of the telegraphers' order in the New York Central system died here today.

Soldiers Live Like Tourists.

Uncle Sam's soldiers lead the life of tourists at Kilauea Military Rest camp, the playground for the Hawaiian division of the army. Army men have ten-day leaves that they may take advantage of higher altitude and cooler climate there.

POST'S ELECTRIC BOARD TO DETAIL SERIES GAMES

Score Device and Amplifiers to Give Plays, Starting at 1:30 P. M. Saturday.

ANOTHER PARTY SUNDAY

Veterans of the last two world series, as well as those of the Tunney-Dempsey fight, may as well begin planning for the old stand in front of The Post.

The shining ball begins to quiver on the huge electric scoreboard Saturday at 1:30 p. m., and the same time the well-known system of amplifiers will begin to waft descriptive words out over E street, across the avenue and back up against the District building.

No excavations have been reported in the vicinity, nor any earth tremblings, all of which being true, there is no reason why the Avenue and E street cannot hold you up. The Post, the Western Electric public address system and the Bell telephone engineers will do the rest.

About the only difference between this show and that of the first game in New York will be your lack of annoyance from the hot dog and pop vendors. Everything else will be yours without having to run the gamut of ticket scalpers, to say nothing of railroad fare.

Everything will be before you but the players, and the game will be pictured in such masterful detail you won't need much imagination to see them.

You surely have heard the loud, clear voice of the amplifiers and you must have seen the electric scoreboard. If you haven't well, it's a diamond, and every movement of the ball on the field is depicted by a metallic ball on the board.

WRC is to be in on the great radio chain to broadcast the games. Sunday's game in New York will start at 2 p. m., Monday the teams are on the road and they play again Tuesday in St. Louis.

Quake Rocks Vienna; California Feels One

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Vienna, Sept. 28.—A six-minute earthquake was felt in Vienna and lower Austria this afternoon which shattered the seismograph in the meteorological station. The shock overturned plates and dishes, shook pictures from the walls and rattled windows, startling many people. At Weiner Neustadt, near Vienna, the shock caused considerable damage.

Ventura, Calif., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—An earthquake shock, described as "fairly stiff," was felt here at 9:49 o'clock this morning. No damage was reported.

AUTO THEFT SUSPECT ADMITS STEALING 11

James E. Colbert, colored, 22 years old, 331 Missouri avenue northwest, was arrested in Laurel, Md., yesterday while driving a stolen automobile, and last night confessed to Headquarters Detective Frank Allgood, that he had stolen eleven automobiles within the last two weeks.

Included in the list of automobiles which Colbert said he stole, according to police, was an automobile owned by Gulebimore R. Buenoru, 2721 Adams Mill road northwest, a trustee of the Mexican embassy. Colbert also confessed that he stole an automobile owned by Policemen F. N. McDaniel, 1925 North Capitol street, which was parked in front of McDaniel's home Monday. He later parked another stolen automobile in front of McDaniel's home, Allgood said.

Several of the automobiles were recovered near the Congressional country club, where Colbert is employed, Allgood said. Colbert said he used the automobiles to entertain his friends, according to police. Virtually all of the automobiles were high powered and expensive.

44,022 LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS CONVICTED

Last Year's Cases in Federal Courts Set Record Since Prohibition.

There were 44,022 convictions in Federal courts for liquor law violations during the fiscal year ended June 30, according to preliminary figures received at the Department of Justice. This is the largest number of convictions reported for any one year since the advent of prohibition.

The number of acquittals in the Federal courts, it was announced, was 520 less than in the preceding year.

Longer jail sentences also were reported, the average sentence during the year being five days longer than the average for the year before. The aggregate jail and prison sentences given by Federal judges was 5,646 years. Fines imposed totaled $7,336,595, the average fine being $166. This was lower than the average fine for the year before. Prohibition officials said that this indicated a tendency toward prison sentences rather than fines.

Parking Space Asked For Perambulators

Cambridge, England, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—There still are more women shoppers with perambulators than with limousines, says the draughts chamber of trade in recommending the introduction of "parking" facilities for baby carriages, long a fixture in many American retail sections.

SELECTED MORTICIANS ELECT ARTHUR G. MANN

Knoxville Delegate to Convention of National Organization Is Chosen President.

GUESTS OF ROTARY CLUB

Arthur G. Mann, of Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday was elected president of the National Selected Morticians, holding their ninth annual convention at the Mayflower hotel.

Other officials elected were Porter Loring, of San Antonio, first vice president; Arthur Mackey, of Greenville, S. C., second vice president, and Fred W. Wilbur, of Marshalltown, Iowa, reelected secretary-treasurer.

New members of the board of control include Jack Matthews, of Lincoln, Neb., the outgoing president, Paul Buchanan, Indianapolis; Floyd W. Estes, Lansing, Mich.; B. C. Wallace, Stockton, Calif.; Bert L. Boyer, Toledo; George W. Streeter, Springfield, Mass.; and George W. Olinger, Denver.

In his address of acceptance, Mr. Mann declared he would exert every effort to forward the aims and ideals of the organization and to assist wholeheartedly in the task of bringing about a more just public attitude toward morticians.

The delegates will be the guests of the Rotary Club at a luncheon today. George Olinger will speak on boys' work while LeRoy Dunn will tell club members of the work of the organization. Tomorrow, the delegates will visit Mt. Vernon.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS CARNIVAL PLANNED

Business Men's Association Decides to Hold Fete October 21 and 22.

Another street carnival, similar to that held a year ago, will be held October 21 and 22, it was decided yesterday by the Columbia Heights Business Men's association. Authorization for the carnival already has been obtained from the District commissioners, William F. Dismar, president of the organization, announced.

The merry-makers will hold forth on Fourteenth street, between Columbia road and Monroe street. The area will be brilliantly illuminated for the occasion.

A parade of floats and pleasure cars will feature the opening night, which is to be adults' night. The next night will be turned over to the children and there will be another parade for them.

CAPITAL'S BOTANISTS HEAR BRITISH EXPERT

The work of disseminating thousands of cultivated plants throughout the British Empire vividly was described last night by Dr. Albert W. Hill, director of Kew Gardens, London, in an address before the Botanical society of Washington in the Cosmos club. Dr. Hill's talk was illustrated with slides showing the brilliant coloring of tropical plants.

Emphasizing the useful nature of these plants, Dr. Hill referred to the East Indian rubber tree, which yields caoutchouc in tremendous quantities and provides the principal source of rubber. Other curious tropical growths were dealt with. Dr. Hill, by virtue of his position as chief of the largest botanical gardens in the world, is also the head of all botanical gardens throughout the British Empire.

Preceding the address, a dinner was given by Dr. David Fairchild, of the Department of Agriculture, in honor of Dr. Hill. More than 100 botanists attended the lecture.

ENSIGN ZIRKLE SAILS TODAY FOR THE WEST

Youth, Who First Refused to Take Navy Oath, Begins Duty as Officer.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 28.—Ensign Edward B. Zirkle, of Kansas, who after graduation from the Naval Academy on June 3 twice refused to take the oath as an officer of the navy, will be a passenger tomorrow aboard the naval transport Chaumont, bound for the West coast. The Chaumont is under Commander John H. Blackburn.

Zirkle, upon graduation, first refused to accept his diploma. Later, when the diploma was awarded, he refused to take the oath. He was then ordered to make the summer cruise with the undergraduate midshipmen.

When the cruise ended in August, Zirkle was transferred to the academy. Rear Admiral Nulton, superintendent, called him into conference, but still he refused to take the oath. Two weeks ago Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Nulton conferred on the case and called Zirkle before them. He remained firm in his attitude.

Orders then were issued for him to proceed to the West coast for duty aboard the battleship California. Last Wednesday Zirkle finally changed his mind, went to Washington and subscribed to the naval oath.

Buffalo Face Slaughter.

Clemency for 350 buffalo on Antelope Island in Salt Lake is being sought by Gov. George H. Dern. The animals will be slaughtered in a big game hunt unless some person purchases them.

BUS ORGANIZATION ELECTS AT MEETING HELD IN ALEXANDRIA

Resolution Asks Congress for Legislation to Give States Rate Control.

WOULD HAVE CLERGY
PAY THIRD LESS FARE

Kiwanis Club to Capital Tomorrow; Motor Crash Case Continued.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
124 N. Patrick St., Alexandria, Va.
F. A. Bristow, of West Point, Va., was elected president of the Virginia Motor Bus association at the final business session of the fourth annual convention of the association here yesterday. Other officers chosen were L. C. Major, of Portsmouth, first vice president; J. H.
Dillard, Center Cross, second vice president; N. E. Reynolds, Chatham, third vice president; J. L.
Wright, Norfolk, fourth vice president; Leon Arnold, Arlington, fifth vice president, and Charles R. Les-cure, Portsmouth, secretary and treasurer.

The executive board is composed of Robert L. May, Alexandria, chairman; L. C. Major, C. R. Lescurie, J.
L. Hudson, C. B. Trent and T. E.
Greer. The legislative committee is composed of S. A. Markel, Richmond, Major and May.
A resolution was adopted urging on Congress the enactment of Federal legislation governing interstate motor carriers and stating that such a bill should provide among other things, for control of rates and regulations by the respective States, and that Congress should declare interstate motor traffic should be free of interference
by any Federal agency.

A resolution also was adopted providing for a third reduction in the rates for ordained ministers,
and that the State corporation commission be asked to grant this reduction.
At the annual banquet of the association in the George Mason hotel
addresses were given by Markel, toastmaster; Bristow, May, J. Randolph Tucker, of Richmond; James
M. Hayes, State motor vehicle commissioner; Charles Henry Smith, Alexandria; Frank De Fries, Bristow; J. W. Awtry, Dallas, Tex.; M.

American Automobile association,
Washington, D. C.; C. P. Clarke,
Washington, and John W. Hester, Oxford, N. C.

The weekly luncheon of the Alexandria Kiwanis club will be omitted tomorrow, when members of the club will be the guests of the Washington Kiwanis at luncheon in the Washington hotel. F.
Clinton Knight is chairman of arrangements for the visit. Automobiles to convey the party to Washington will assemble at King and
St. Asaph streets at 11:30 a. m.

Talbot Armstrong, 6 years old, 312 North Columbus street, was struck by a delivery truck of Swift & Go. Monday night near King and Patrick streets and severely bruised.
He was taken to his home and treated. Police Sgt. Sims arrested Chauncey Radolph, driver of the truck, charging him with hitting and running, and also with failing to have a driver's permit. The case was continued in police court yesterday morning until the child is able to appear.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p. m. today for Mrs.
Robert Murphy, who died Monday
at the home, 427 North Alfred street, by the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcopal church. Burial will be in Bethel cemetery. Besides the husband she is survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. F. M. Arnold, Mrs.
William H. Evans, Harry F.
Murphy and Joseph Murphy, and a niece and nephew, Miss Edna Padgett and Raymond Padgett.

Funeral services for John J.
Haley, who died Sunday in Charlottesville, will be held at 3 p. m.
today from the funeral home of Cunningham, Kennedy & Watkins, 809 Cameron street. They will be conducted by the Rev. P. L. Vernon, pastor of the First Baptist church, and burial will be in Ivy
Hill cemetery. Members of Canton Alexandria No. 1, Odd Fellows, will conduct services at the grave. A delegation of members of Alexandria lodge, No. 758, Elks, will attend. The Elks held a lodge of sorrow last night. Mr. Haley is survived by a wife, a daughter,
Miss Frances Haley, of this city,
and a sister and brother, Mrs. J.
A. Hollaman and W. R. Haley, of

$40,000 IN BONDS MERTON PAID KING SOLD BY SMITH

joined in the questioning, which lasted several hours. No new evidence of importance was adduced
from the witness and he finally was told that his mission in coming from Germany to testify in this trial had been completed and that he might return.

Bonds Sold by Smith.

Edward N. Toland, of the Attorney General's office, and Mrs.
Myrtle Norton, of the Treasury Department, were called to testify to investigations carried on in an effort to trace ownership of coupons
from a $100,000 batch of the Merton bonds. The government charges that the interest on these bonds formed a part of the money which it alleges went to Daugherty.

Among other things, Toland testified to discovering that $40,- 000 of the Merton-King bonds had been sold to Jess Smith, Daugh-erty's political "handy man," who is alleged to have acted as a go-between in the American Metals release transaction.

Judge Mack in excusing the jury
for the day, warned them again not to read about the case in the newspapers and then, apparently, was ready to hear any motions. Instead of making them, however, defense counsel walked to the bench and whispered to the judge, Buckner joining them.

It was then announced by the judge that adjournment would be taken until tomorrow, and all the attorneys went with him into his chambers. It was learned from the attorneys first that the motions
would be discussed there.

This meeting lasted about two hours. Williams Travers Jerome of counsel for Miller, announced at the hearing's conclusion that only one motion had been formally presented and that that was not the general motion to dismiss. He said both sides would present that motion at a continuation of the chambers' hearing before court in the morning.

He said that prior to the general motion, counsel for both defendants had specific motions concerning admissibility of much of the evidence offered by the government. The one motion made today had to do with admissibility of a conversation between Merton and George E. Williams, assistant to Miller, when the latter was alien property custodian,
concerning the American Metals Co.'s claim. The conversation had been testified to by Merton both on his first appearance and again today.

Held Not Admissible.

Jerome said defense counsel
asked that this be struck out on the ground that it was only admissible provided that Williams were shown to be a coconspirator. He said no evidence had been put forward to prove this.

Other motions to be made prior to the general dismissal motion have to do with the conversation Merton testified that he had with Guy D.
Goff, assistant to Daugherty at the time in question, and who actually signed the release of the enemy assaults, together with Adnah R. Johnson, of Daugherty's staff.

When all of the motions have been presented, Judge Mack will make his decisions. If any of the motions are granted by him the general dismissal motion and public announcement will be made when the trial is resumed at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow.

Street Car Strike At Asheville Ends

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 28 (By A.
P.).—The strike which has tied up street car service in Asheville since Saturday morning was settled this afternoon. The motormen and conductors who walked out will return to their posts tomorrow morning.

All differences between officials of the Carolina Power & Light Co.
and the 60 street car men were adjusted, statements by the company general manager, C. S. Walters, and William G. Plimmons, representing the union men, said. The men agreed to meet virtually all conditions contained in a contract offered by the company on September 13.

Air Record Is Sought By French Brothers

Le Boirget, France, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—The brothers Arrachart, one a captain and the other a sergeant major, started at 2 o'clock this morning in an endeavor to lower the long-distance nonstop airplane record. They plan to go to Irkutsk, Siberia, by way of Warsaw, Moscow and over the Ural mountains, a distance of 4,184 miles.
The aviators started with sufficient gasoline in theory for 38
hours of flight at an average speed of 112 miles an hour, or a distance of 4,250 miles.

Hohenzollern Family To Get $250,000,000

(Special Cable Dispatch.)
Berlin, Sept. 28.—A complete settlement has been reached between a representative of the Prussian state and the Hohenzollern family, according to Leipzig newspapers,
whereby the former kaiser, crown prince and their families are to get 1,000,000,000 gold marks (about $250,000,000) for a quitclaim against Germany. Before the war
the former kaiser's fortune was estimated at $100,000,000. In addition, it is stated, he has relinquished his claims on many castles.

Doolittle Returns; Walks on Crutches

Hoboken, N. J., Sept. 28 (By A.
P.).—Walking with crutches, Lieut.
James H. Doolittle, of the American air service and first American aviator to fly over the Andes, arrived from Buenos Aires today aboard the steamship Pan-American.
Both of Lieut. Doolittle's ankles were broken when he fell from a platform three days after his arrival in South America for demonstration flights of pursuit planes,
but despite his injuries, he carried out his flying schedules in every detail.

CHIEF OF INDIANA KLAN OWNED STATE, IS CHARGE

Editors Ask Senate Session
to Sift Alleged Sales of Public Offices.

JURIES FRAMED, IS HINT

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28 (By
A. P.).—A special session of the State senate to investigate political conditions in Indiana will be demanded by an investigating committee of the Indiana Republican Editorial association, says a statement issued here tonight by Thomas H. Adams, chairman of the committee and publisher of the Vincennes Commercial.

Mr. Adams' statement says the committee "has uncovered a mass of corruption," beginning with the alleged reign of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, who is now serving a life sentence in the State penitentiary in connection with the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer.
The corruption, he says, "will all be presented to the president of the United States for Federal action." Federal and State grand juries will be called into action and the committee will demand that the Republican State committee review
offenses of certain public officials.

His statement asserts that
"Stephenson bought control of Indianapolis; that he bought the State of Indiana; that he bought certain county; that he bought certain courts; several congressmen, and his way into the United States Senate.

"Contracts are in existence of written bargains and sales of public offices. Fantastic stories of conspiracy against government officials
in office to get men removed, framed indictments, corrupt jury action and bartering of political power are told," he said, by former lieutenants of Stephenson, who have given the investigators information.

American Commerce Revives in Nicaragua

Managua, Nicaragua, Sept. 28
(By A. P.).—American commerce on the east coast is reported to be reviving, due to the neutralization
of El Bluff, Bluefields and the entire district under Rear Admiral Latimer and his force of 300
American sailors.

Commercial interests in general
have been seeking American intervention through Charge Dennis,
with the request that the American forces remain in Nicaragua either permanently or until all the political difficulties are settled.
The charge has replied that the United States can only use its own good offices in the present difficulty.

Methodsist Ministers Meet at Buckhannon

Special to The Washington Post.
Buckhannon, W. Va., Sept. 28.—
The eightieth session of the West Virginia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church opened here
today, to continue until next Monday. The first session was devoted to the examination of candidates for the ministry, with Dr. C. Fred Anderson, pastor of First church, Parkersburg, heading the examination board.

This afternoon holy communion was administered, with Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of Pittsburgh, presiding, assisted by the district superintendents. Memorial services were held for the following ministers who died in the last year:
Simon J. Byrd, C. W. Stephan, H. E.
and D. A. Friend, J. W. Claypool
and O. C. Phillips.

Among the people you see today, four out of five past forty (and many younger) are victims of Pyorrhea—simply because they started too late to protect teeth and gums.

Pyorrhea starts with tender, bleeding gums. Unchecked,
it undermines youth and health and often results in loss
of teeth, neuritis, ulcers, rheumatism or other serious diseases.

But have no fear. If you start in time, you can prevent or check the inroads of Pyorrhea. See your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the Gums.
This dentifrice prevents Pyorrhea or checks it. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., a recognized specialist in Pyorrhea.

Forhan's firms the gums, keeps them healthy. It protects teeth from decay-breeding acids and keeps them
white.

Don't gamble with health! Start the Forhan morning-

TRINIL SKULL MAY THROW REAL LIGHT ON MISSING LINK

Discovery in Java, Asserts Dr. Hrdlicka, Means Much if Genuine.

HAS MADE RESEARCHES IN THE SAME AREA

Relic Dug Up Near the Spot Dubois Found Famed Bone Fragments.

The reported discovery at Trinil, Java, of a complete skull of the prehistoric ape-like creature called the "missing link," is one of the most important discoveries in the field of anthropology, if it is true, Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, head of the department of anthropology of the Smithsonian institution, said tonight.

"If this discovery is authentic, and it appears to be," said Dr. Hrdlicka, "it will enable us to learn a great deal more about what sort of a creature this 'link' was. Every effort should be made to obtain all possible details."

Visited Same Locality.

Dr. Hrdlicka, who only last summer made his way up the Solo river in central Java and made a laborious search of the area where Prof. Heberlein is reported as having made the discovery, added, "I know a lot more about that than I want to say at this time."

Dr. Hrdlicka declined to make further comment. In view of the probable authenticity of the find and the fact that the Smithsonian institution's anthropologist surveyed the territory, much interest was manifested here. The importance of the discovery lies in the fact that it represents the farthest reach of the genus homo, the so-called "missing link."

Dr. Hrdlicka brought back to Washington a considerable collection of bones from creatures contemporary with the pithecanthropus erectus. He did not find any pre-human bones, however, but came away convinced that the area was only scratched. His work, it is felt here, undoubtedly spurred the Dutch scientists to renewed efforts.

Specimen Is Complete.

Batavia, Java, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Prof. Heberlein, of the Netherlands government medical service, has discovered in Trinil, central Java, a complete skull of the prehistoric ape-like creature termed by some the "missing link," and by science, pithecanthropus erectus.

The skull was found at the same place where Prof. Eugene Dubois, of Amsterdam University, discovered in 1892 the upper part of a skull, two teeth and a thigh bone, from which was reconstructed the previously unknown ape-like human designated as pithecanthropus erectus.

Prof. Heberlein's specimen, which is complete and undisturbed, is kept in Dutch East India, as the exportation of such relics is prohibited.

Dr. Dubois' famous discovery was made on the left bank of the Bengawan river, near Trinil. Much discussion followed, with many authorities opposing Dr. Dubois' theory. The creature was not held to bridge the entire gulf between man and the ape, but some scientists argued that it constituted a further piece of evidence in that direction.

Steel Trust Formed By Swedish Firms

Stockholm, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—A Swedish steel and iron trust which has long been projected as a means to overcome the existing depression in the industry has been organized. The total capital involved will reach 127,000,000 kronor, or more than $34,000,000.

In order to overcome competition from countries with low exchange rates the Swedish companies will henceforth avoid competition with each other both at home and abroad and greater specialization will be insisted on.

Proposed Slaughter Of Buffalo Protested

Special to The Washington Post. Norfolk, Va., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—The "Pawnee Bill," Maj. G. W. Lillie, ("Pawnee Bill"), of Pawnee City, Okla., and Dr. R. J. Tanner ("Diamond Dock"), of Norfolk, have joined together in a public protest against the signing of the last great buffalo hunt, at which 300 animals are to be slain on Antelope Island, Great Salt Lake, Utah.

Maj. Lillie has refused an invitation to be present, and Dr. Tanner today announced that he, too, will refuse to be present at what both old-time characters declare is an outrage.

SUPREME COURT TO GET CASE OF SINCLAIR'S NAVY OIL LEASE

text of Judge Kenyon's decision before discussing it.

The decision represents a victory for the government's special counsel and will be hailed as a political asset by the friends of Pomerene, especially as the latter is just about to launch actively his campaign in Ohio for the seat held by Senator Willis.

Did Much of Teapot Case Work.

It has been understood that Mr. Pomerene did the lion's share of the work in the Cheyenne case, whereas Mr. Roberts was the leader in the government's case against Doherty. Therefore, when Judge Kennedy decided against the government at Cheyenne while the government won its civil case against Doherty in California, the trend of events appeared to be going against Pomerene. Yesterday's decision by the circuit court harmonizes the decision in the Teapot Dome and Pan-American cases and puts both Mr. Pomerene and Mr. Roberts on record as having led the government forces to victory.

Sensor Borah, of Idaho, and Senator Walsh, of Montana, have an indirect share in yesterday's decision favoring the government. Judge Kenyon, when a member of the United States Senate, belonged to the group of radical independents of which Senators Borah and Walsh are leaders. Mr. Borah is understood to have had a share in obtaining Judge Kenyon's appointment to the bench and the latter was Mr. Borah's candidate for the vacancy on the Supreme Court to which Harlan F. Stone was recently appointed by President Coolidge.

Judge Kennedy's decision against the government was rendered in June, 1925, after the Cheyenne trial which began the preceding March. He held that the Teapot Dome lease was valid and that the government had shown no proof of fraud. The government's suit against the Mammoth Oil Co. was a civil suit or equity proceeding instituted on March 13, 1924, pursuant to the resolution of Congress. The government seeks to cancel two contracts made with the Mammoth Oil Co. in 1922 whereby the latter company was to develop the Teapot Dome naval reserve for the navy and provide suitable storage for naval oil.

Denby Also Signed Contracts.

Secretary of the Navy Denby and former Secretary of the Interior Fall signed the contracts which the government later sought to vitiate. The naval reserve in question is naval reserve No. 3, comprising about 9,321 acres in Natrona county, Wyoming, adjoining the famous Salt Creek field.

The decision of the circuit court of appeals directing the lower court to cancel the Mammoth Oil Co.'s lease and enjoin the company from trespassing on the property does not affect the present status quo of the Mammoth Oil Co., more than the government's original civil suit affected it. In other words the company's status remains as it is pending the anticipated final determination of the question by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Trial Judge Prejudiced, Roberts Said in His Appeal

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Government efforts to annul the famous Teapot Dome oil lease to the Harry F. Sinclair interests carried the case into the United States circuit court of appeals.

Defeated in the Federal district court in Wyoming in June, 1925, the government's special counsel continued their fight by taking an appeal to the circuit court of appeals for the Eighth judicial district.

Arguments on the appeal were heard by the court in St. Paul on May 17 and the case taken under advisement late that day by Judge William S. Kenyon, presiding and Arab S. Valkenburg and William A. Cant.

But long before the case started its somewhat tempestuous journey through the courts it had gained the attention of the nation, involving grave charges against the secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall, and others.

Fall Confirmed Leases.

From the time back in April, 1922, that reports became current in Washington that Secretary Fall had leased the large Wyoming naval oil reserve to Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co. chronologically the case ran its course about as follows:

Reports of the lease to Sinclair were confirmed by Secretary Fall on April 21, 1922.

The Senate oil committee then was created, with Senator Walsh, of Montana, as chairman, and it made a long investigation of the transaction.

On information furnished by the Senate committee, the government based its suit for annulment, charging fraud and illegality.

Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, and Atlee Pomerene, former Ohio senator, were appointed special prosecuting counsel for the government by President Coolidge.

Suit Filed at Cheyenne.

The annulment suit was filed in Cheyenne in March, 1924, but the trial did not get under way until March 9, 1925.

Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy dismissed the case on June 19, 1925, declaring no fraud or illegality had been shown by the government.

On July 8, 1925, Judge Kennedy denied the government's motion for a rehearing on the ground that additional testimony was available.

The government appealed to the circuit court of appeals, filing its petition at St. Louis on September 23, 1925, charging 64 assignments of error in asking reversal of the lower court. In its oral arguments and briefs presented to the circuit court judges in St. Paul May 17 the special government counsel charged that Judge Kennedy had "started out with a slant of mind against the government."

Blocked, Roberts Held.

"We were blocked from showing the whole truth in our former case at every possible turn," Mr. Roberts told the court, declaring they were unable to get in important testimony regarding the alleged transfer to Secretary Fall of "a fortune in Liberty bonds" after the lease was made.

Counsel for Sinclair, including Martin W. Littleton, of New York; George P. Hoover, of Washington; and J. W. Lacey, of Cheyenne, argued that not a bit of evidence had been produced by the government showing "any fraud or impeaching the honesty" of Sinclair.

The government asked the circuit court of appeals to "reverse the decree of dismissal of June 19, 1925, and to demand the present case for further proceedings with directions that:

"(1) The lease . . . and supplemental contract . . . be surrendered for cancellation for fraud and illegality;

"(2) The appellees be enjoined from further trespassing upon the lands of the appellant; and

"(3) An account be stated for the full value of all oil and other petroleum products extracted and recovered under the aforesaid lease."

Roberts Looks Forward To Supreme Court Ruling

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Owen J. Roberts, special counsel for the government in the Teapot Dome oil case, expressed gratification tonight at the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Louis.

"I am greatly gratified at the reversal of the decision of the district court of Wyoming in the so-called Teapot Dome case," said Mr. Roberts. "The government's special counsel, Senator Atlee Pomerene and myself, have always had a belief that there would be a reversal of the case, which belief was strengthened by the decision of the Ninth circuit court of appeals in the so-called Doherty case."

"The Doherty case will be heard by the supreme court on Monday or Tuesday, October 4 or 5, and the decision in that case will probably finally settle the law applicable to this case as well."

WOMAN RENOUNCES PRETENDER'S LEGACY

Mrs. Jarrott, However, Stipulates Orleans Trophies Be Kept Intact.

London, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—The tea tables of Mayfair were enlivened this afternoon by the announcement that Mrs. Violet Jarrott had renounced the life annuity of £2,000, bequeathed her by the Duke of Orleans, French pretender.

Mrs. Jarrott, who is already comparatively rich, is prompted to relinquish her rights through consideration for the other legatees, as the duke's fortune is said to be smaller than was originally supposed. Mrs. Jarrott stipulates that provision be made for the upkeep of the duke's collection of big game trophies.

Former Queen Amelie of Portugal, the duke's sister, who is residuary legatee, will benefit through Mrs. Jarrott's renunciation. The duke's impoverished widow, the Archduchess Maria Dorothea, who is seriously ill in Hungary, will not benefit, as the duke cut her off without a penny.

big radio
setsAway with "B" batteries on those many-tube sets! Have you tried to work a "B" eliminator on a six, eight, nine tube set? Here's one that was designed specially to take care of the heavy current drawn of these sets—the RCA Duo-Rectron.It delivers power up to 50 milliamperes—
enough for bigor little sets. It delivers it smoothly, steadily, silently. And economically! It has up to 135 volts for the power tubes—taps
for less if you want it—and a voltage regulator to keep the current exactly right for your particular radio set.

Complete with tubes, $65

BUREAU OF THE POST
Clarendon, Va.Two bids, one of $200,000 and one of $10,000, for parts of the $750-000 water bond issue of Arlington county, were accepted yesterday by the county board of supervisors.
William H. Duncan, clerk of the county, received the bids for the county. The $200,000 share went to the Virginia Trust Co. of Richmond, and the $10,000 share to
R. H. Phillips, of Kensington, Md.
Edward Duncan was the only supervisor to oppose the acceptance of the offers. He was out voted by the other two.The bid of the Virginia Trust Co., specifies that the issue
shall mature as follows: $10,000 December 1, 1935; $30,000 December 1, 1940; $50,000 December 1, 1945, and the remaining $50,000 in 1950.Efforts on the part of the many representatives of the various bonding houses to have the bids rejected failed. They held they were not advised that they could bid on part of the issue. Mr. Ingram stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of considering the bids and if they wished to bid they had the opportunity up to 4 o'clock.While attempting to cross the Lee highway near Park lane yesterday, Harold Jennings, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Jennings, of Park lane, narrowly escaped serious injury when struck by an automobile operated by Mr. McEwen, of Aurora Heights. The child was rushed to the Georgetown hospital,where he was found to be suffering from body bruises, not considered serious. He was later taken home and is now under the care of Dr.
S. T. Noland.Through failure of the State senate to pass a special submission act,
the people of the State will not vote
on the amendment to the constitution allowing the front foot assessment for sewer and sidewalk improvements, Senator Frank L. Ball stated last night.The bill, which was introduced four years ago, by Col. Charles T.
Jesse, member of the house of delegates, passed the house and the senate two terms as required by law, but the failure of the passage of the special act by the senate will cause the vote to be delayed another year.Senator Ball stated last night that the matter will be brought to the attention of the senate at the special session which is expected will be called by the governor in January.According to the committee in charge of the selection of "Miss Arlington," Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, of Cherrylee, teacher of dramatic art and expression, has been chosen to arrange the plans
in carrying out the program imposed on the float which will represent Arlington county as the gateway of the Chesapeake Bay. Mrs. Coles will meet the contestants for the honor Saturday afternoon at 5:30 in the offices of the chamber of commerce.The weekly meeting and luncheon of the Arlington County Monarch club will be held tomorrow at 12 o'clock noon in the Clarendon Baptist church, with President Perry L. Mitchell presiding.There will be a special meeting of the Arlington post, American Legion, tonight in the Clarendon Community hall at 8 o'clock, when plans for the trip to the Sequicentennial exposition will be discussed. The arrangements for the dance and reception in connection with the selection of Miss Arlington will also be discussed.The weekly meeting of the board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will be held today at 4:30 o'clock in the offices in the Rucker building, Wilson boulevard, Clarendon.The board of supervisors last night signed the contract for the building of Clements avenue, Ballston, of concrete construction.
Work will be started today. The road will be improved to connect with the Washington District line.

FIRES KEEP LEGIONS
OF FIGHTERS BUSYWarfare, Costing Millions of Dollars, Is Waged for Many Weeks.SEASON'S PERIL HELD
THE WORST SINCE 1910Huge Conflagrations Leap From Crest to Crest
of Hill-Tops.Spokane, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).
Warfare engaging legions of fighters, costing thousands of dollars
daily for its maintenance and leaving in its wake losses of millions,
has been waged for weeks through the forests of Western United States.The fight has continued on a hundred fronts, with now and then a gain here or a loss there, but without the aid of the ally that would have decided the battle
definitely—a general heavy rainfall.The fire menace was more serious the last season than any time since the great fire of 1910
in the Pacific northwest, when vast areas of valuable timber were destroyed and a hundred lives were lost. Fatalities this year have been small in number, although hundreds of acres of timber lands have been burned over.

Three Classes of Fires.

Airplane patrols, field telephones
and radio and an elaborate system
of lookouts serve under ordinary circumstances to hold the fires in check. But when a general conflagration gets a start and blankets
the countryside for miles with a heavy pall of smoke, the patrols are unable to detect the smoke that tells of a newly started fire.Forest fires are generally of three classes—ground or brush
fires, trunk fires and crown fires.
The former creep over the ground, burning the low growth. They may do little damage to merchantable
timber, except to kill certain species of trees. Greater loss of times is to the young growth which would form the succeeding forest crop.
Trunk fires burn along the ground
and in addition run up the tree trunks, burning them so as to make the trees useless for commercial purposes. Crown fires are those that sweep through the tops of the trees, jumping for hundreds of yards at a bound.

Leap From Hill to Hill.

It is when the forest becomes a holocaust that the fires run uphill
more rapidly than down the opposite slope, sometimes leaping from one hilltop to the next without burning over the intervening valley.
They soon generate their own air currents.

The giant flames throw "spot

fires" far and wide, fragments of flaming trees being carried sky-ward by the terrific heat and cast ahead in the path of the flames as far as six miles.To contest the advance of ground
or brush fires, gasoline pumps, wet gunny-sacks or blankets are employed and the system of trenching is used. In fighting a trunk or crown fire that is burning from tree to tree above the ground, back-firing sometimes is resorted to. Unless the winds continue favorable and blow the flames toward the main fire, the back-fire may soon break bounds and offer as great danger and difficulty as the one it was intended to halt.LOREE WOULD SCRAP 30,000 RAIL MILESLines Are Cancerous Growth,
He Testifies in Support of Merger Plan.Dallas, Tex., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).
Thirty thousand miles of railroad lines, which he said should be abandoned as a cancerous growth
on the transportation system, L. F.
Loree, of New York, chairman of the boards of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and the Kansas City Southern railroads, testified here today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on his application to merge
these two lines with the St. Louis-Southwestern railroad.This was his answer to the protest of short line representatives that his proposed merger would crush them.Asked by counsel whether the plan of consolidation sanctioned by the transportation act of 1920 was not intended to save weak lines, he replied that he had often heard this explanation, but that he considered it "so socialistic as to be unthinkable."Dissolution of Diet
In Poland ForeseenWarsaw, Poland, Sept. 28 (By
A. P.).—The conflict between the government and the diet has developed into a phase indicating that the final battle between the executive and legislative powers
will take place at the next sitting of the diet, which will be ended
by dissolution of the houses, and new elections in January, 1927.It was hoped that the present conflict would be eased by approval by the Senate today of credits of 484,000,000 zloty or $54,000,000 for the last quarter of 1926, previously approved by the diet, but the senate reduced the credits to $50,000,000 and in consequence the diet will meet Thursday to discuss this reduction.

Fall of Rock Kills 2 Men in Mine.

Special to The Washington Post.
Frostburg, Md., Sept. 28.—
George Hausarth, 27, of Carls,
and Steven Leptie, 18, of Klondike, Md., were killed by a fall of rock
in mine No. 10 of the Consolidation Coal Co. last night. Ten years ago
Hausarth's father, George Haus-arth, was killed in a similar manner.

Sever Bids Opened.

Sealed proposals for construction of section 13 of the Woodridge
stormwater sewer were opened in the District building yesterday. M.
Cain Co., Inc., was the lowest bidder, at $27,083.75.Committee to Meet On Fire PreventionThe committee appointed by Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty to plan the District's participation in national fire prevention week, beginning October 3, will hold its first meeting today at 4 p. m. in the board room of the District building.
Election of a chairman and outlining of plans for publicity in education of the public in fire prevention methods will be the principal items of business to be transacted.

Anyway, this is how Mr. Joseph

THAT'S VALUE IN CLOTHES

WHEN the fabrics have weight and strength to carry you month after month

When the patterns and colors look good on you, and to you, day after day

When the style gives you trim outdoor lines

When the tailoring is fine enough to hold your clothes in shape

When you feel that you never had more clothes satisfaction for your money

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

Pity This Husband.

DEAR Miss McDonald: As a disillusioned wife and mother, may I set forth the details of my unhappy marital condition as to the relationship—conduct, manners and so on, of father and children—and his lack of interest in the children's future?

As far as love and kindly treatment go, my husband is a good father. But if there be power in example, I despair of ever making gentlemen of my boys, with their father as example. And because I have seen how very much farther one may travel if equipped with culture and good manners, I am probably overambitious in that direction. So, when my husband asks that I agree to go separate ways I weigh details in the balance.

For instance, I want the children (at table) to wait till mother is through serving—father seldom waits and at best serves only the meat unless he "comes to" to find me waiting on all at once. As to piling chairs, that is indeed a far cry in our house. Father in our house takes two, three or more helpings if a thing is his favorite, the rest one. Even the children know if a tid-bit is lying around to ask who is the owner. Not dad—he helps himself, though he might know it is the children's. Some of his manners are unimpeachable. I am scolded if things are not up to A order, yet if he drops his pipe ashes on the floor (that is an old one) or drops things, I pick them up. Anything heavy in his way doesn't call forth chivalry. I am strong. So if you were unhappy and felt your own ideals of beauty and culture and goodness could carry you through, would you leave?

As to money, I have never had an allowance; the exceptions are so few as to be negligible. Of course we are very poor. But if my husband has but a few dollars till pay day he could not possibly share one of them. I must borrow carfare and stamps, but he runs no such risk. How I despise him.

Another point. For six years we lived in an exquisite park, a settlement erected by his employers for their employees. We bought because a small principal and easy upkeep were involved. The community turned out to be a perfect environment—college folk largely with splendid ideals. We were compelled to sell to make money. I want now to go back. My husband for sheer contrariness will not. I know by wheeling I could accomplish my end—but I refuse to wheedle.

Just what is convention? How much does it matter if the conventional frown upon divorce? What people think, say, doesn't lessen that deadly, daily reminder that love and admiration and respect are gone. I do not love or respect my husband. Must I live with him—just because he does not beat me? I am bullied, told I'll be treated like a dog unless I do everything to his liking.

To my husband's people and our friends we apparently "get along," although they must see in most hum-drum fashion. My own folks have seen their early warnings as to his lack of consideration for me and lack of interest in life generally realized. True he is alert now, compared to the earlier days—another man his teacher! But the cruelties I have suffered during the transition have made happy marriage impossible.

My children's beautiful speech was remarked upon formerly. Now they forget their "ings." They are slangy and their best buddy is an abnormal child. Our street is crowded, ugly. Don't you see how harrowing my life is? Yet I have well-to-do parents who I know would help, were I alone. What shall I do? Mrs. O. M.

You say your husband has asked that you go separate ways. And you state you no longer love him, and can "carry on" for your children. Do not these things decide? The fact that your husband's little shortcomings assume in your eyes such mammoth proportions is proof sufficient that you feel no love for him? Why, then, go on? Separated you may no doubt live to learn far from criminal it is for a man in his own home to take a second and third helping of food!

I pity the men who marry in good faith and find themselves divorced because they smoke pipes, take second helpings and otherwise demonstrate that they are men—not angels.

Divorce the man—and let him live and die in peace.

Germany to Increase Schools for Servants

Berlin, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—To offer ample training facilities to girls and young women intending to devote themselves to housework, the president of the federal vocational administration plans a material increase of the existing number of training schools for female domestic labor.

With the general appreciation of women's housework as a essential factor of economic life, has also come the realization of the inadequate training opportunities offered for such vocations.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MAY I GO, TOO?

Ask us not to go away
In her presence, night or day.
Or you'll hear Miss Janet say:
"May I go, too?"

She is four and fair to see
But at four, it seems to me,
Here's the burden of her plea:
"May I go, too?"

Mention whatso'er you may,
Dinner party and play
Janet pipes this tuneless lay:
"May I go, too?"

Little visits to the sick,
Weddings, funerals—his her trick
To inquire at double-quick,
"May I go, too?"

Tell me, sage, so very wise,
What this simple phrase implies,
Just what meaning herein lies:
"May I go, too?"

Does the grown-up world appear
Brighter, with its toilsome gear,
Than the world of childhood here?
"May I go, too?"

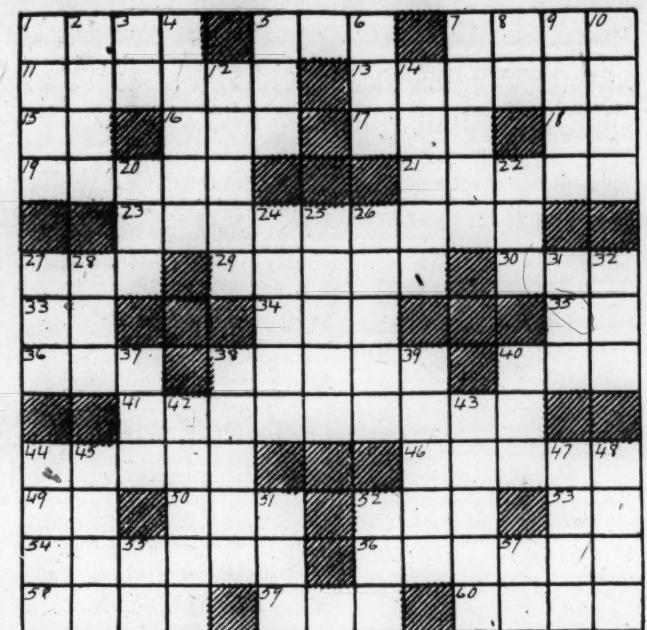

Do those happy eyes see naught
Of the care which age has wrought?
Has no burden stained her thought?
"May I go, too?"

Wise the master to ordain
Of the blind to grief and pain
And life's heartaches shall remain.
"May I go, too?"

Glad am I they do not heed
Cares which make us wince and bleed,
'Tis better, oft in vain, they plead:

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. W. A. EVANS

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CAUSED BY RAW MILK.

NEARLY a generation ago the United States Department of Agriculture and the United States public health service made a study of epidemics caused by milk. The study filled a volume of about 1,000 pages. It assembled information about 1,000 epidemics, in which there was proof that the use of raw milk had spread the disease. Since the date of issue of that report there has been a long addition to the original list. Probably a majority of the people are now using pasteurized milk, but in spite of the comparatively small use of the raw fluid, epidemics due to it are reported with great frequency.

In their indictment of raw milk I do not find any charge that it was ever accused of spreading infantile paralysis.

Turning to the chapter on infantile paralysis in Vaughan's "Epidemiology" I find no mention of milk as a means of spreading the disease. However, the shrewd Vaughan lays the foundation for such a belief. Witness these statements: "We are inclined to the opinion that the virus is more frequently introduced into the digestive tract. We are inclined to the opinion that hand-to-mouth infection has not been sufficiently recognized in the transmission of poliomyelitis. We all know how universal is the tendency among children to taste of everything. They take alternate bites of apples, swap sticks of candy, and in the school-room, under the eyes and without the disapproval of teachers, they hold pencils in the mouth. The visitor to the isolated farm house is apt to carry something to the home which may bear an infection, transmissible by the hand-to-mouth method, to the children of the family."

From Cortland, N. Y., there comes a report of an epidemic of infantile paralysis which Drs. Knapp, Godfrey, and Aycock attribute to raw milk. A boy developed infantile paralysis while milking cows on a dairy farm. He had very little fever and was not sick enough to quit work. He continued milking until after he became partially paralyzed in one hand. In fact, after his paralysis put his right hand out of business, he milked with the other hand until he was stopped. The evidence indicated that practically all the cases of paralysis developing in infantile paralysis, drank rather freely of milk which came from the farm through a dealer in town. There was almost no contact between the cases of their families, and about the only commodity used in common by all the sick persons was milk from this farm. Water was easily ruled out. The epidemic occurred in December, after the end of the fly season.

Furthermore, but one batch of milk seemed to be responsible for the trouble. It seemed that at one milking on one day the sick boy managed to get some of his saliva in the milk, or he put his fingers in it, or in some other unknown way he infected it with a very heavy dose of germs.

FIGHTING RED BUGS.

R. S. J. writes: What is the best preventive against chiggers (or red bugs) when one intends to invade their stronghold?

What is the best remedy for them and their bites when one gets them?

REPLY.

Since all insects prefer some people to others, it follows that repellents have a field. As a preventive, try powdered sulphur dusted in the stockings. Put it round the top of your socks. Do not use much, as it irritates the skin. Red bugs invade from below and work up.

When feasible, take a bath at the end of the day. Use plenty of yellow soap. Sprinkle some sulphur in your underwear. Shake it out the next morning.

To kill red bugs in the skin nothing equals chloroform. Drop five drops on the bite. Cup your hand over the burn. Hold it there until the skin burns a little. The bug goes to sleep permanently, regardless of how deep he is in the skin. The itching ends.

ANOTHER THEATER PROBLEM

SOME one wrote the other day to know whether latecomers at the theater should, in getting to their places, wedge themselves along with their faces toward the stage or toward the row of people they were trying to pass. I was so glad to be asked a question about theater seats that I wasn't the time-honored one of whether the man or woman should walk first down the aisle that I all but cheered. This question had a problem behind it, too, for ordinarily it is not polite to turn your back upon people. In this case, however, there's a reason. You wish to get to the general incommencing as quickly as you may with as little extra trouble to them as you can manage. Now, on the whole, you can manage better and make yourself flatter by going through with your face to the stage—at least that is my experience. Your arms, your feet, your front, you can keep closer against the seats ahead than you can your back. And so you balance the major politeness of causing as little convenience as possible, against the minor one of turning your back for a few seconds upon people to whom you can apologize for doing it, and who will grant you grace with their lips while probably cursing you in their hearts.

This mode of entrance also enables you to keep a watch upon the garments and hair of the row in front of you, which, if you do not take care, you are apt to sweep into fearful confusion. The whole proceeding is awkward, owing principally to the theater-builders' passion for seating people too close for comfort at the best of times; but the awkwardness is a little abated if you can see where you are going and guard the row in front against mishap while the row behind try to guard themselves. This is the "why" of the circumstance as I see it, and it seems good sense to me.

I might say again that going down the aisle is, as usual, a matter of reason. Has the usher the tickets, and is she showing the way down a clear space to the seats? Let the woman follow her. Has the usher to be found and the way cleared? Let the man do it. Always let strength clear the road for sensitivity to walk in. Don't let the "little woman" invariably blaze on ahead with the short, fat steps of sensitive competence. A man ought to be as socially capable as his wife. It only takes a little intelligence.

BEAUTY AND YOU

By VIOLA PARIS

AN EXERCISE FOR ARMS AND SHOULDERS

IF we are wise seekers after beauty, we shall never lose sight of the fact that it pertains to the whole body—not merely to the face. There is something very sad and incongruous about a pretty face coupled with an ineffectual body.

Even a fairly well-proportioned figure is often spoiled by flabby arms and bony shoulders. If you want to develop the arms so that they will be symmetrically beautiful, you can not afford to neglect exercise. Tennis, basketball and figure are often spoiled by flabby arms and bony shoulders. If you want to develop the arms so that they will be symmetrically beautiful, you can not afford to neglect exercise. down. Both arms are then supporting the body. Next, supporting the weight with the left arm and leg, turn again until you face upward, supporting the body, like a bridge, on the arms and feet. The whole movement is really a continuous roll, and it is not difficult once you get into the swing of it. Try to do it as smoothly as possible, slowly increasing the speed. Repeat several times but do not continue after you are breathless from the exertion.

All Leech Doctors Of Austria Women

Vienna, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Women have a monopoly of the leech-doctor profession in Austria. Leech doctors are successors to the old-fashioned bleeders who used to treat all sorts of ailments by drawing blood from the patients by making incisions.

Leech doctors are not medically trained. Their theory is that most diseases are either caused by fever or attended by fever, and that an excess of blood is responsible for this condition. So, armed with leeches, which are carried in moist earth, these women go about reducing the blood supply of patients who have faith in the leechers.

British Stores Plan Baby-Carriage Parks

Cambridge, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Department stores with "parking" facilities for baby carriages are now to be introduced in England as a belated convenience to customers. There are more women with perambulators than automobiles, and such will be the case for many years to come, in the opinion of members of the Drapers' chamber of trade assembled here.

Woman of 87 Attends Dance Class Regularly

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Although she finds it difficult to obtain dancing partners her own age, Mrs. Mary T. Edmundson, 87 years old, lives up to her belief that "a dance a day keeps the doctor away." For the last two years

Mrs. Edmundson has been attending classes at a local hall room to solve the partner problem. She says she has danced for 40 years and while the waltz and old-fashioned three-steps are her favorites, she does fox trot. She does not like the Charleston or the St. Louis hop.

Woman Is Appointee To German Mason

Coepernick, Germany, Sept. 28 (By A. P.).—Margot Zachert, 17 years old, aspires to be the first woman mason in Germany. She registered as apprentice with the mason's guild and entered the employ of Fritz Foll, a local mason, who put her to work mixing plaster for an office building. After serving her apprenticeship and passing the master's examination, however, she intends to keep her job just long enough to earn the wherewithal for going to a polytechnical college.

A Unique Soap

Created by experts for one purpose only—to safeguard your complexion

That's why, on expert advice, thousands are gaining the charm of natural loveliness through this simple daily rule in skin care

THERE are many places where experiment is safe. But not with the complexion. To endanger one's pretty skin is a folly.

Before Palmolive came women were told, "use no soap on your face." For soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty soap. A soap made by experts in skin care for one purpose only—to guard youth and charm. A soap made to be used freely, lavishly on the skin.

It changed the beauty situation throughout the world. It supplanted artificial beauty methods by the score. World's authorities widely urge it. The thousands of pretty skins you see today are largely due to it.

Wash, launder, scrub, with any soap you wish; but when beauty is at stake, take care.

This simple daily rule to natural skin beauty

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois. 8176

Whitney Filly Hard Ridden To Score Corinth Easily Takes Third; By Gosh Is Winner in Stretch.

Charlotte Hall Finish- es Second in Open But Is Disqualified.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Sept. 28. Harry Payne Whitney's filly, Maid of the Mist, won the Gladstone purse, a dash of 6 furlongs for 2-year-olds, here today. On the opening day of the meeting Maid of the Mist, making her first appearance in public, beat her field in a gallop. She had to be hard ridden to beat Fair Star out a head in her effort this afternoon.

Apparently breaking well, the Whitney filly came caught in a jam and McAttee pulled up, and before they went a hundred yards she was last and trailing her field. After they had gone a furlong, McAttee sent her up on the outside, and entering the home stretch she made an extremely wide turn. Finishing straight and true, she wore down Fair Star and in a mild drive came up in time to win. She Affinity, showing lots of early speed, tired badly and was beaten off for second money.

CORINTH made his opposition look cheap in the third race, a dash of a mile and a quarter, for which he found strong support. Ridden by C. Lang, Corinth, after breaking slowly, went to the front with a rush in the run to the first turn.

After drawing away into a commanding lead he was rated under restraint the remainder of the trip.

At the finish he had a three-length advantage over Chief Tierney, who in turn beat the favorite, Ruben Roux, two lengths for the place. Chief Tierney made a determined effort to get to the making the turn into home stretch, but the former had too much in reserve.

Richards rode an intelligent race on Ella M. in the second race. In the early stages he took back of Sun Seeker, Dawn of Virginia and Elisha Lee and permitted these three to battle it making the pace. Rounding the turn into the home stretch Richards made his effort with Ella M. and going to the outside of the leaders was on even terms with them at the furlong pole. At the end Ella M. shook off opposition and won with something in hand by a half length over Boyd.

By Gosh was an easy winner in the sixth race. Collietti waited until after getting straightened out on the back stretch before making an effort.

WHEN called on By Gosh moved up stoutly on the outside and rounding the far turn he caught and passed Redstone in the stretch. He had a lead of two lengths and a half over Broad Axe at the end. Fast Mail closed a big gap and was third.

A stirring stretch drive came with the running of the fifth race when Nat Evans just managed to last long enough to beat Arbitration out a nose. Nat Evans made a runaway affair of the race, taking the lead soon after the break and drawing away without effort, had a three-length advantage, but tired badly and just failed to beat the fast closing Arbitration by a nose. Mayne saved third money.

The first disqualification of the meeting came in the opening race, won by Abby, a field horse, paying $11.30.

Charlotte Hall finished second, Hawk God third and Hong King fourth. Jockey Jones, who rode Hawk God, lodged a claim of foul against Charlotte Hall, which was promptly allowed by the stewards who placed Hawk God second and Hong King third.

The foul occurred on the turn out of the back stretch, when Charlotte Hall sharply across the field, sending Hawk God to his knees. Hawk God recovered, and came to a stop to finish third easily by the better part of two lengths.

JACK DENIES VETS' RETURN FIGHT WAS FAKE

Shows Battered Face to Reporters; Silent on His Plans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—"Was that fight fake? Just look at my face!"

Thus did Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, after playing hide and seek with the press, spied ugly rumors about Gene Tunney's accession to the heavyweight throne.

It had been whispered about since Jack lost his title to Gene last Thursday night in Philadelphia that Dempsey, of his own accord, tossed his crown into Gene's hands, thereby reaping a fortune by betting against himself at the prevailing long odds.

"Now then," said the former champion, "there would have been an easier way to get out of a framed fight, don't you think?"

Jack declined to state whether he would try for a comeback, retire from the ring, but added that he might have something to say along that line in a day or two.

Dempsey had intended holding off the members of the press until tomorrow morning, but with the arrival of Gene Tunney, his manager, he received a telegram from the former's wife. He merely exhibited his battle-scarred features as Exhibit A toward proving the honesty of his efforts against Tunney. Whatever of importance was on his mind he kept to himself.

"I am going to try and put an end to these rumors," he said, "take in the world series, and I also have some business matters to take care of."

Jack had been in Atlantic City several days. He came to New York primarily to have a conference with Tex Rickard.

Leaving the Atlantic City train at Manhattan Transfer, N. Y., Dempsey, with his wife, the former Estelle Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fitzsimmons, came to New York by Hudson tube train. Entering the Belmont hotel through the rear door, the party went into hiding. Repeated knocking on the door of the room assigned to Dempsey brought no response. Jack has a horror of photographers these days and refused to let them "shoot" his badly battered face.

Gallaudet Eleven Has Lights Schedule This Year.

ALTHOUGH Coach Teddy Hughes has not been calling the world's attention to his work, he has been ardently drilling his Gallaudet college football aspirants for the past 10 days, and with satisfactory results. The Kendall Green eleven will open its season October 8 on the home grounds, meeting St. John's of Annapolis.

Hughes has a veteran group around him this year. His feelings that, with a lighter schedule than that of 1925, he will have better success. Gallaudet experienced the worst season in its football history last year.

The problem confronting Hughes now is to develop a new quarter back and an end, the rest of the team having returned almost intact, and many of the scrubs of last season being on hand. Knauss and Young, who graduated, and Mlynarek are the only absentees.

ROSE and Byouk are reliable on whom Hughes depends for the best part of Gallaudet's attack. Both are spectacular line plungers. The line is giving Hughes no trouble.

Among those who returned from last year are, besides Rose and Byouk: Capt. Scaville, Bumann, Killian, Wright, Szopa, Miller, W. Johnson, Ridings, Petersen, Reins and E. Johnson.

The schedule is not filled and Manager Jacobson is scouting for a couple more games. The list as it stands, follows:

October 8, St. John's at Kendall Green; 16, Schuylkill at Reading, Pa.; 30, University of Maryland at College Park; November 6, American University at Kendall Green; 13, University of Delaware at Newark, Del.; 20, Blue Ridge College at Kendall Green.

Seabrook Nine Wins Over Nat. Circles

The National Circles were unable to cope with the pitching of Willard Clark and Seabrook ran away with the battle, 8 to 0. The hitting of Darsey and Moreland was the offensive feature for the winners.

D. C. Colleges Stage Final Scrimmages

Maryland and Catholic university football squads will stage their final scrimmage work today preparatory to their departure for games to be played Saturday with the University of South Carolina and Boston college, respectively. Any changes in the line-ups will be determined after those scrimmages, and tomorrow afternoon only light drill will be held.

Georgetown concluded its heavy work yesterday, leaving only some practice on new signals for today and tomorrow before the trip to Pittsburgh, where the Panther eleven will be met Saturday.

As a whole, the local teams are in good physical condition and face the coming battles confidently.

and 1, in three of the few matches which ran to form.

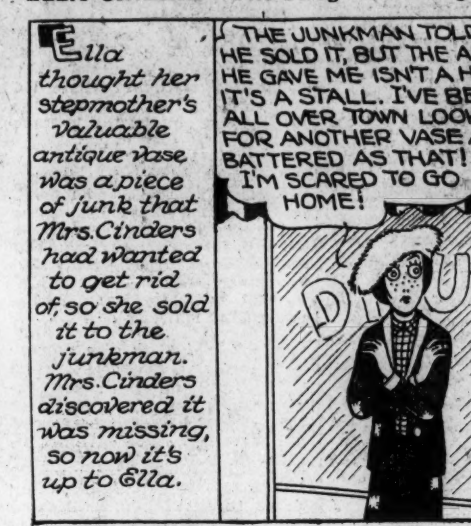

A belated rally on the last nine holes failed to save Ada Mackenzie, Canadian champion, who lost to Mrs. G. H. Stetson, Philadelphia, 2 and 1.

In other closely contested matches, Ruth Butcher, of Boston, defeated Mrs. Raymond Stotter, of Philadelphia, and 3; Rosalie Knapp, of New York, eliminated Mrs. J. S. Stetson, Jr., of Chicago, 1 up; Mrs. Wright D. Goss, Jr., of Short Hills, N. J., defeated Mrs. H. Baker, Jr., of Waterbury, Mass., 4 and 3; Princess Anita Lohkowitz, of Watch Hill, R. I., put out Mrs. E. E. Harwood, of Chicago, 3 and 1; Mrs. Courtland Smith, New Jersey State champion, shaded Mrs. Stewart Hanley, of Detroit, 1 up; and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, of Garden City, N. Y., defeated Jane Brooks, of Sparghill, N. Y., 3 up.

DECEMBER 31 LAST DAY FOR RENEWING AUTOISTS' PERMITS

Applications Filed After Limit Expires Will Be Treated as New Ones.

ELDRIDGE IN APPEAL TO LOCAL MOTORISTS

Only 30,000 of the 150,000
License Holders Thus Far Have Sought Cards.

December 31 was officially named yesterday by the commissioners as the last day on which applications will be received for renewal of automobile operators' permits under the amendment to the traffic act adopted last July.

After that date all applications
will be treated as new, and each applicant will be required to take an examination to establish his qualifications for driving.

This action was taken at the request of M. O. Eldridge, director of traffic, who issued a statement appealing to local motorists to aid him in prompt renewal of outstanding permits by filing early applications. There are around 150,000 permits out. Only 30,000 drivers have applied for renewal to date.
The text of Eldridge's appeal follows:

"By act of Congress adopted July 3, 1926, this office was directed to begin at once to call in all outstanding motor vehicle operator permits and reissue them. The act commanded us to 'complete such renewal within a period of one year.' No matter what our desire
we have no choice in the matter.

Only 30,000 Apply.

"We arranged for the necessary organization and asked the motorists of Washington to obtain applications for renewal at this office,
the police traffic bureau or any police station and, following directions printed thereon, apply at once for renewal.

"That was three months ago.
Only 30,000 of the District's 150-000 drivers have responded, more than half of these in the first month. Requests for renewal have now fallen off to less than 200 a day. At this rate it will take two years to reissue the permits. Congress demands that reissuance be completed by July 1 next.

"To do it 525 permits must be issued every working day. We are equipped to issue 750 a day.

"The situation that confronts us
is that there is danger of a large number of permits lapsing, which might necessitate wholesale arrests for driving without them. No one wants this to happen. At best, unless motorists apply more rapidly
for renewed permits, we face a flood of applications the last few days before July 1, sufficient to swamp
our organization and keep us until next fall reissuing the permits.
Congress said must be out, next July.

Final Date Is Set.

"To guard against such a predicament we have been able to devise only one thing to do. That is to set a final date for receipt of applications for renewal far enough
in advance of July 1 to assure re-issuance of all permits by that time.

"December 31, 1926, has been set by the Commissioners, on recommendation of this office as such final date for receipt of applications.
All persons applying for renewal after that time will be treated as new applicants and must submit to examinations of their qualifications to drive.

"We appeal to the motorists of the District to act at once, in the spirit of cooperation, and apply
now, those who have not already done so, for renewed permits."

Group Studying Flag Display Halts Work

The joint committee of veterans'
organizations that has been seeking a system of uniform flag display for Washington's downtown streets has stopped its work pending approval
of plans by the commission of fine arts.

The commission has notified the committee that flag decorations on poles near the curb of sidewalks
are ineffective because of the possibility of removal of poles and obstruction of flags by motor cars.
Lamp-posts lend themselves more readily to uniform flag display than the curb pole scheme, in the opinion of the commission.

Stranger Asks Change And Snatches Wallet

Doing a favor for a stranger yesterday cost M. H. Carroll, of Willes Springs, N. C., $97, he told police of the Ninth precinct. While he was in the Union station the stranger accosted him and requested change
for $10.

Carroll took out his wallet to oblige and the stranger snatched the pocket book and fled.

Workman Hurt in Earth Slide.

While excavating in the basement of a church at Thirteenth and L streets northwest yesterday,
Henry Fitzhugh, colored, 59 years old, 1616 Vermont avenue northwest, was seriously injured when a wall of dirt caved in upon him.
Fellow workmen rescued him and he was taken to Emergency hospital.
He suffered a crushed chest and probably internal injuries.

Husband Wins Decree.

Burton Smith was awarded a final decree for absolute divorce
yesterday by Justice Stafford in equity court against Mrs. Eliza J.
Smith, whom he married July 22, 1918. Attorney Goldstein and Quigley appeared for Smith.

35 School Teachers Are Sworn in Here

Approximately 35 new teachers were sworn in by Harry O. Hine, secretary of the Board of education, at the Franklin school yesterday. Most of these teachers were appointed in time to begin teaching on the opening day of school, but they have to be sworn in before they can draw their first month's salary, due tomorrow. Most of the new teachers were graduated from the Wilson Normal school last June.
About 50 new teachers have been appointed thus far this year.

Those teachers who started teaching on the opening day of school, September 20, will receive a full month's pay tomorrow, while those who started teaching after the opening day will receive a salary based pro rata on the number of days they have taught this month.

SECOND DIVISION OPENS MEMORIAL FUND DRIVE

Mrs. Lejeune Gives First Contribution to Assistant Secretary MacNider.

$150,000 WILL BE RAISED

The campaign for the Second division memorial was opened yesterday, when Mrs. John A. Lejeune, wife of Maj. Gen. Lejeune, commandant, marine corps, wartime commander of the division, presented Assistant Secretary of War MacNider with her personal donation of $125 to start the building fund. Maj. Gen. Lejeune also attended the presentation in Assistant Secretary MacNider's office,
State, War and Navy building.

Assistant Secretary MacNider accepted the donation as president of the Second Division association. He is a veteran of the Second division, entering it as a second lieutenant
and leaving it as a lieutenant colonel.

It is believed that the memorial will be erected in this city. At the recent division convention in Chicago a memorial fund of at least $150,000 was decided on, and Maj.
Gen. James G. Harbord, U. S. A., retired, was named chairman of the memorial committee.

The country has been divided into fourteen districts, in addition to the present Second division, the marine corps and medical corps, for raising the fund. Quotas have been allotted and most of the chairmen named. The quota for the District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia is $6,000, and Archibald
G. Robertson, Richmond, Va., is the chairman.

The division in the world war
was composed of regular army and marine corps units, whose personnel represented every State. Approximately 65,000 men served with it and 24,085 were killed in action,
of whom 3,343 were killed in action or died of wounds. The memorial will bear the names of members who died during the war.

CAPTOR OF BANDITS REDUCED TO RANKS

Detective Sergeant Murphy's Pay Cut $600 for Applying Epithets to Hesse.

Detective Sergt. D. J. Murphy
yesterday was reduced to the rank of private, with $600 a year reduction in salary, for having, in the soft drink establishment of Ellis
Duke, 1119 D street northeast,
September 6 and 7, applied epithets
to Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, and Capt. Charles T. Peck and Lieut. S. J. Marks of the ninth precinct.

The action was taken by the District commissioners. Lieuts. William G. Scott and Hugh H. Groves investigated the complaint against Murphy and recommended the action taken by the commissioners, their suggestion being concurred in by Assistant Superintendents of Police Harry G. Pratt and Charles A. Evans.

Precinct Detective H. A. Cole was promoted to succeed Murphy as detective sergeant and Private W. J.
Du Nisky was promoted to take Cole's place. Murphy was instrumental, with others, in the capture of one of the bandits who shot up Petworth Sunday morning.

DISTRICT GUARDSMEN FARE WELL IN SHOOT

Local Team Close to Marine Champions in Old Dominion Matches.

A check of the scores of the Old Dominion championship rifle and pistol matches at Fort Eustis, Va., last week, reveals the District National Guard rifle team trailing the unbeatable Quantico marine team
by but 30 points for lead and second in the rifle matches.

The District team had 1,114
points out of 1,200; the Norfolk
marines, 1,096; the Fort Eustis 52d coast artillery, 1,054; the Fort Eustis Coast Artillery Officers
school, 1,051; the 51st coast artillery, Fort Eustis, 1,037. The Norfolk National Guard was last.

Capt. J. C. Jensen, District Guard, was third in the individual match
and Corpl. George E. Votava and Sergt. Joseph W. Crockett, District
Guard, finished eighth and twelfth, respectively. In the 300-yard rapid-fire rifle match Walter R. Stokes, local guardsman, shot a perfect score of 50, and Lieut. T. A. Reilly was fourth with 48. Sergt. Stokes also won the Old Dominion small-bore championship match with a score of 241 out of 250. Lieut. Jen-son shot a perfect score of 50 in the small-bore match at 200 yards.

'FIGHTING EDITOR' MAGEE TALKS ON FREE PRESS

Washington Advertising Club Hears History of Newspaper Campaign in New Mexico.

Ovation FOR SPEAKER

The right of an editor to express his opinion on the management of public business without hindrance from any source is one of the fundamental principles of the Constitution, Carl C. Magee,
"fighting editor" of the New Mexico State Tribune, yesterday told the Washington Advertising club at its opening luncheon meeting of the season in the City club.

Mr. Magee, whose fight for six years in New Mexico against alleged corruption of the courts has attracted universal attention, was introduced by the president of the advertising club, Norman K. Kupper.
He received an ovation. One of the largest attendances on record greeted the speaker.

Declaring that the democracies of today owe their existence in large measure to the printing press and the right of free speech, the editor
said the most important question
now before the American people is that of "freedom of the press." He outlined his New Mexico campaign, winding up with the declaration
that no one in that State today challenges the right of a newspaper to comment as it sees fit on the affairs of government. He spoke forcefully.

Music was provided by Meyer
Davis' Swanee Syncopators, a twelve-piece orchestra, led by Al Kamons. At the conclusion of the luncheon an informal reception
took place.

ELDRIDGE QUESTIONS CENSUS ON DEATHS

Declares Return of 66 Killed in Traffic This Year Is Erroneous.

Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge yesterday again took issue
with the Bureau of the Census over the reporting of traffic deaths in the District, challenging the correctness of the bureau's figures.

The census bureau had given publicity to a statement that there were 66 deaths from traffic accidents in the District from January 3 to September 12, eleven of them being in the last four weeks of that period. Eldridge said that there were only 52, as against 54 for the period a year ago and that there were only 7, instead of 11, in the four weeks ended September 12.

"I think their error lies in accepting, without check, the figures of the health department," said
the traffic director. "These include persons dying in Washington hospitals who are injured at nearby points in Virginia and Maryland. I have written the Secretary of Commerce asking him to correct the statement and to check his figures carefully in future before releasing them for publication."

SCHOOLS TO EXCUSE SESQUI ABSENTEES

Educational Features Warrant Trip on District Day, Ballou Decides.

All pupils and teachers in the District public schools will be excused from classes next Wednesday to go to Philadelphia for District day at the Sesquicentennial exposition. Dr.
Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

Pupils must have a written request from their parents to be excused and they will be excused from classes for no other reason than attending the Sesquicentennial.
Teachers may be absent on Wednesday, providing that a sufficient number of competent substitute teachers can be procured to take their places. As usual the teacher must pay for the substitute's services.

The historical interests of the exhibits at the Sesquicentennial to both the pupils and teachers is sufficient to warrant the excusing of absence from school on District day,
Dr. Ballou said.

Moore Held in $30,000 Bond.

Henry M. Moore was held for the grand jury yesterday by Judge
Schmidt in police court under $30-000 bond on charges of housebreaking and larceny. He was recaptured by Detective Allgood after he had jumped through a window at police headquarters several days ago. Two charges will be presented to the grand jury.

Protects Laundry Company.

Justice Bailey in equity court yesterday issued a temporary restraining order against Charles W.
McSweeney, former employee of the Arcade-Sunshine Laundry Co. to prevent him from continuing the alleged acts of soliciting customers of the firm employing for the attended benefit of his present employer, the Electric Sanitary Laundry Co.

NEW LINEUP OF CITY OFFICES MAY COME FROM HOUSE AIRING

Reid, of Illinois, to Press Measure for Five Board Members.

RUDOLPH URGES ADDING WOMAN TO COMMISSION

19 Departments Too Much for Engineer Director, Says Representative.

Proposals for a change in the local government are to receive quite an airing in the next session of Congress, and it is quite possible a realignment of departments may come out of it.

Representative Frank R. Reid, of Illinois, has made known that he believes the administration of the local government is more than a three-man job and that he intends to press his measure for five commissioners.

With this view, Commissioner
Rudolph yesterday added his proposal that the commissioners be increased to four, the additional member to be a woman.

"There are a number of departments that might well be placed under supervision of a woman commissioner," he said. "I refer to the board of public welfare, including all the charitable and correctional work, the public library, playground department and the board of education."

Brownlow Wants One Man.

Opposed to expansion is former Commissioner Brownlow, who believes the best government can be achieved under one man with a group of executives under him.

Reid believes the engineer commissioner can not possibly give the desired attention to the nineteen departments under him. While the commissioners, of course, are not expected to handle details of their respective departments, it is Reid's opinion that those under the engineer commissioner number so many that it is simply a case of his taking the responsibility for them.

If it is to be simply a case of having a head who can be held responsible without regard to his ability in a maximum effort
from his subordinates, it would be just as well to permit one man to take responsibility for everything, letting the departments continue to ramble along on their own, and thus save the salaries of two commissioners, it is contended.

Bill Impresses Congress.

In so far as personalities are concerned, Engineer Commissioner Bell has impressed the members of Congress with knowledge of more details of his departments than his two associates. This is believed to be explained largely by the fact that he is a man with a technical training and naturally is at home
in matters concerning street paving and engineering projects and the like.

Just how the engineer commissioner can keep 19 departments working at their maximum state of efficiency, however, is beyond Reid's comprehension.

There is a suggestion, the suggestion that a reappointment of the work among the commissioners might serve the purpose and the House District subcommittee charged with investigating District affairs plans to study the matter from this viewpoint as well as the others.

Commission Men Seek Data on Market Sites

While commission merchants presented arguments for a midcity
site to the park and planning commission's market subcommittee yesterday, a committee of commission
merchants from B street was visiting sponsors of each proposed market location for information as to advantages of respective localities
before a decision is made as a group
where they prefer to locate.

At their meeting, it was learned divergent views were held and a committee composed of John H.
Shreve, N. J. Ward, G. Perry Lei-shear, F. D. Parrish, Henry J. Klein
and Arthur N. Murphy was named to find how the commission house moving plan would fit with plans of advocates of each site.

New Carlton Hotel To Be Opened Friday

A buffet luncheon tendered by Harry Wardman, the owner, will formally open the new Carlton hotel, Sixteenth and K streets, Fri-
day.

With an architecture, fittings, furnishings and design that have largely come from Europe, but retaining its American character
withal, the new hostelry will have 287 rooms, a few of them single rooms. The accommodations are to be mostly in family, diplomatic and royal suites. The hotel staff will be composed largely of Europeans,
speaking all the modern languages,
and seeking to serve the guests as they are served abroad.

Absolute Divorce Granted.

Mrs. Celia F. Schultz was awarded a final decree for absolute divorce yesterday by Justice Stafford
in equity court against Morris Schultz, of New York city. The plaintiff was married February 8, 1920, and has one child, whose custody she is granted. Attorney Thomas F. Cullen appeared for her.

Wife Gets Alimony.

Mrs. Gertrude E. White, who sued her husband, Alton C. White, for a limited divorce, was awarded $110 a month temporary alimony
yesterday by Justice Stafford in equity court, together with temporary custody of minor child. Attorneys Lambert, Yeatman and Schwartz appeared for her.
